A new chapter of life begins

Sophomores, eager yet cautious

Juniors, preparing to lead

Seniors, making their last year the best

Three classes bonded together

Ahead lies a new experience

A year filled with laughter and happiness

Struggles, determination, and pain

Last years memories slowly fade

The future begins to form

Individuals working together to make it work

Hopes and dreams take shape

Look forward, not back

The long road is just beginning

Travel it well because. . .

YOU ONLY LIVE ONCE

RIGHT: Showing the way it should be done, Donna Tyler carefully lines up her next putt. Golf and Games provided good times for several students throughout the year. OPPOSITE-TOP: Picnicing can be less expensive, and more enjoyable than dining out. Spending a quiet afternoon at the park are Richie Darner, Frances Kelley, Marta Smith, and Mike DiMartin. BOTTOM-LEFT: An amused LeaAnn Schlarbaum looks on at a soaked Ed Spilo who finds the breeze a little cool. BOTTOM-RIGHT: Practicing up on his frisbee skills, Pat Reardon concentrates on a catch. Frisbees are seen more and more due to the sports continual growth.

The best times of our lives are now

They belong to us

To make the best of and enjoy

Life is short

Filling it with friends, love, and laughter

Makes it last so much longer

Sharing and growing together

Looking forward to the future with excitement

Remembering the past with a glow

Looking back we know we've done our best

Because...

YOU ONLY LIVE ONCE!

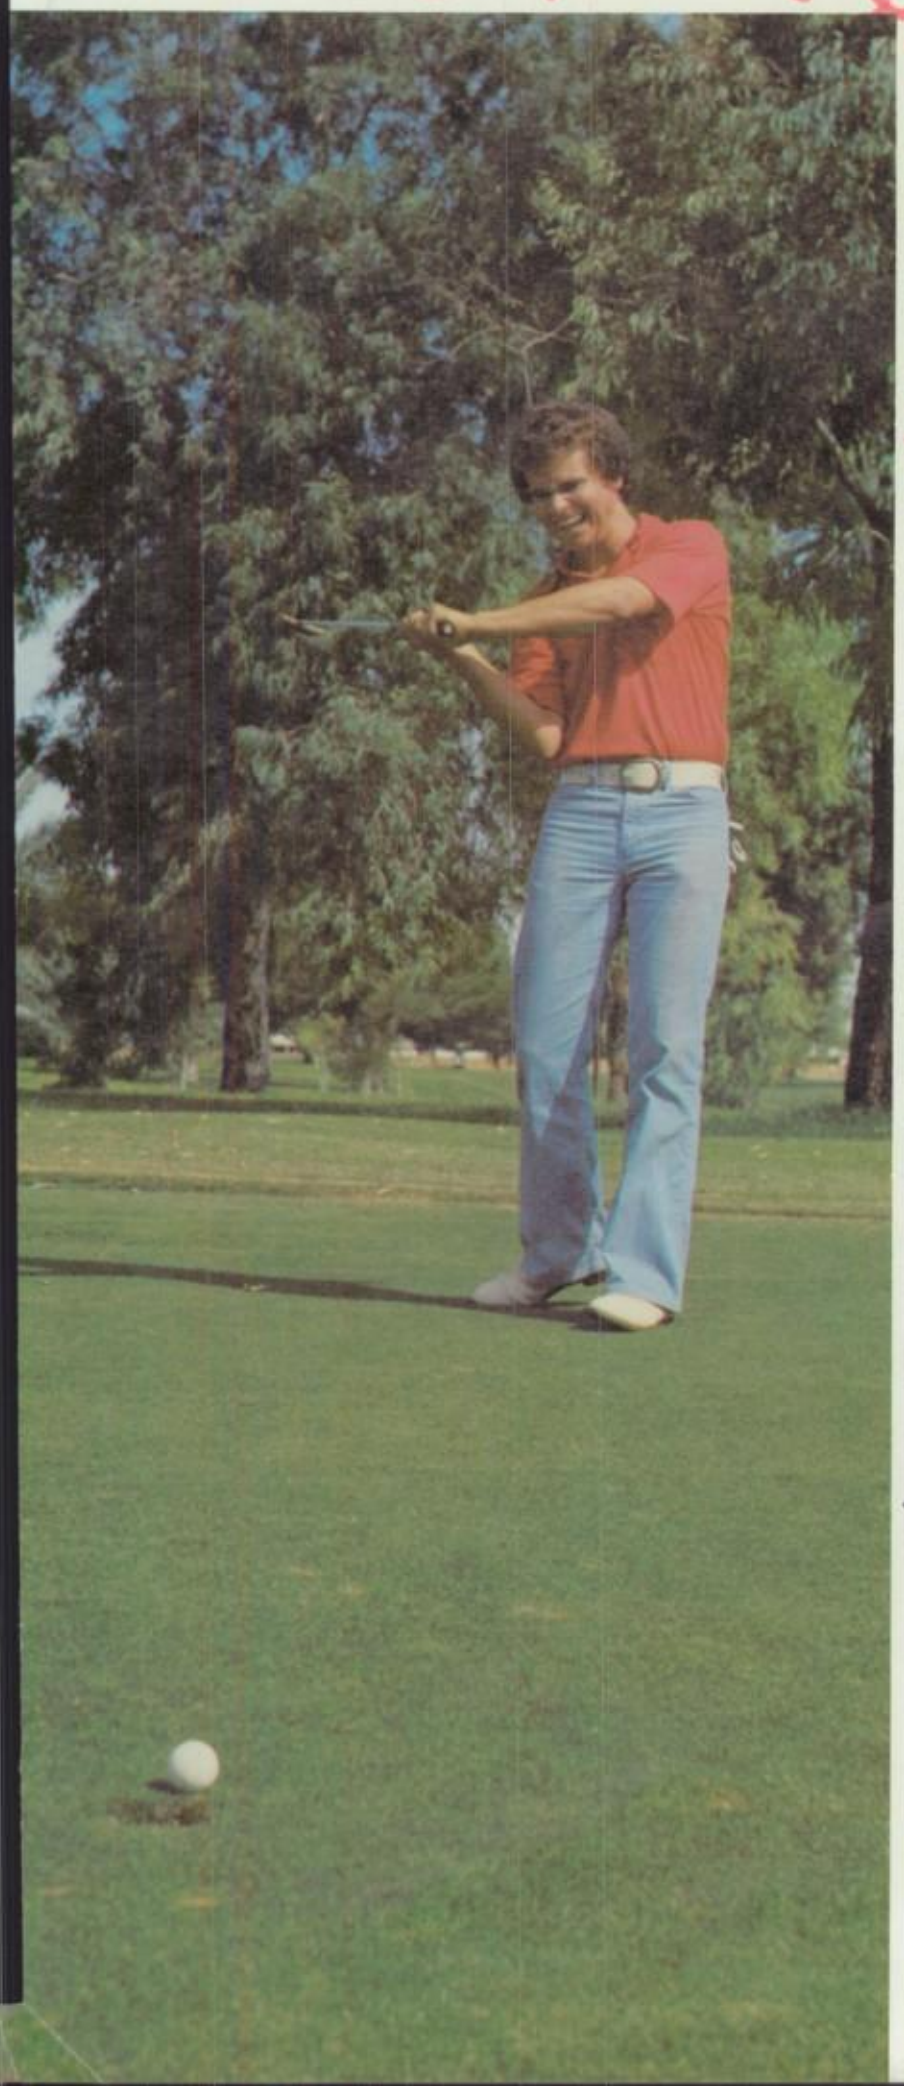
Dawn,
Thanks for everything (I mean everything) You and Kelly are friends that no-one can beat. You take it easy with the guys and don't get into trouble with any of them either - Please! Hope to see you



As a child you watched the older kids at practice
Growing older you watched teams achieve victory
Then you had your chance to prove yourself
You worked hard and long to meet your goals
The time came when you finally tasted that victory
There were also times when victory was out of reach
Still, spirit, companionship, and willpower kept you going.
Winning was shared by everyone, losing you suffered alone
You did it for the team, the school, and yourself
It took a long time to be where you are, but after all...
YOU ONLY LIVE ONCE!

DAWN
IT'S BEEN FUN HAVING YOU IN MY SECOND PERIOD CLASS. IT'S TO BAD THAT YOU ARE NOT GOING TO BE AT THIS SCHOOL NEXT YEAR. WELL HOPE IT'S GOING TO BE BETTER AT YOUR NEW SCH. REMEMBER ME ALWAYS LIKE TO BE WITH YOU. JUST KIDDING

JOE (YEAR 76-77)

Starting from the beginning

Everyone learning his part

Struggling to learn individually

Wondering if it'll ever come out right.

Then one night you're standing before the audience

Voices and instruments together in harmony

Filling the auditorium

The applause is beautiful music

Nervousness is replaced by pride

You wouldn't trade this moment for anything

Because . . .

YOU ONLY LIVE ONCE!

Jane Pinckert

Jim Sturdevant

Helping students is a way of life for Westwood Principal Jim Sturdevant, seen here with National Merit Semi-Finalists; Mark Piersal, Susan Benzer, Brett Butler, and David Shaw. Mr. Sturdevant is now finishing up his seventh year as Westwood principal. He is known throughout the school by many students for his motto, "I Care!"

Chieftain Dedication Goes To Pinckert, Sturdevant

"I Care", is a statement which best expresses principal Jim Sturdevant's philosophy towards the students and faculty of our school. Because he does care, he has provided an atmosphere where the people of the school can work to their fullest potential.

The realization of a dream came to Mr. Sturdevant this year, when the H.A. Hendrickson trophy was presented to the school, signifying that Westwood High School was selected as the outstanding high school in the state of Arizona. We, of the Chieftain staff, are proud to name Mr. Sturdevant as one of the persons to whom this book is dedicated.

Caring for her students and seeing to it that they excell to the ultimate of their abilities is Mrs. Jane Pinckert's forte. She has been a government teacher at Westwood for the past fifteen years and in all of that time she has given of herself not only in the classroom, but also as a sponsor of various organizations, including the National Honor Society.

Mrs. Pinckert has also worked with "AA" students and has "followed up" on their careers, lending a hand wherever and whenever necessary. We, of the yearbook staff, are pleased to name her as one of the people to whom this book is dedicated.

Making The Moments Last

Running, jumping, reaching, swimming

Times of glory and defeat

Fighting, always fighting

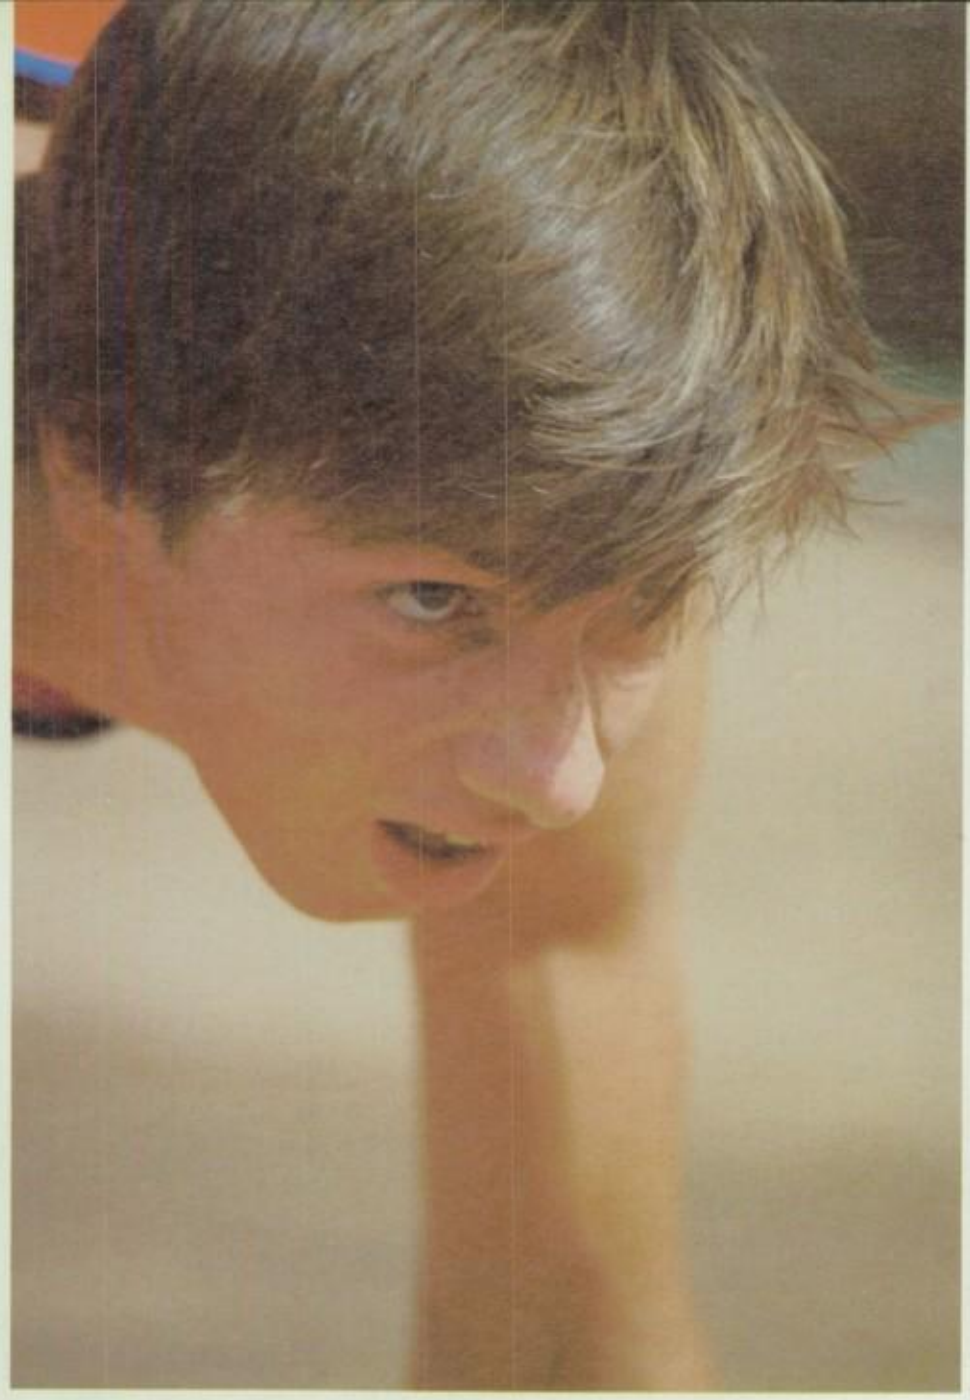
Against time and resistance

Against the thought of quitting

Pushing onward to the limit

Being the best there is because...

YOU ONLY LIVE ONCE!



OPPOSITE: Huddling together as one, the mighty Warrior football squad prepares to crush another opponent. LEFT: Waiting for the gun, hurdler John Giles gets set to sprint off towards the victory line. Dawn -
You have really been a fine person to get to know. You have so many qualities that perhaps even you don't fully appreciate yet, but keep your faith up. Have faith in yourself and the future cause you will live. Best to you in all that you do. I have really appreciated your friendship - keep up the good works!

Badminton Serves a Triumphant Season

With only two returning players, Debbie Ballard and Susie Silvas, badminton coach Yolie Munoz's pre-season hopes were optimistic at best. "The team was very young as far as experience goes," exclaimed Coach Munoz. "but Debbie and Susie both provided leadership for the other girls which proved to be invaluable."

Undefeated all year was number five player Lavon O'Banner, a junior who outplayed all ten of her foes in a smashing fashion. Rounding out the top six were Judy Kelley, Kristie Ramsey, and Terri Harrell, all first year players with outstanding 9-1 records. Making Westwood a team to be feared, the girls combined their efforts to demolish all ten of their opponents for the season.

On the Junior Varsity circuit, junior Sara Brown led the team with an unblemished 9-0 record as the Tribe turned in an outstanding 7-win, 2-loss performance on the year.

Cheer, Yell Leaders & Pom Raise Spirit

Once again, Westwood has been blessed with several enthusiastic spirit-raisers who, throughout the year, have inspired Tribe athletes to perform up to their capabilities.

Leading the pack of win-hungry Warriors were the cheerleaders and yell leaders, putting a spark in everyone at the games, and helping to encourage our teams to victory. Under the guidance of Mrs. Lauri Zarkou, they also made pep signs throughout the year and served dinners to our gifted athletes.

With the aid of Mrs. Connie Harris, one of the most exciting groups this year were the Warriorettes. Besides performing at the football and basketball games, they also carried their Warrior spirit to the Fiesta Bowl Parade and Band Day at ASU. These irreplaceable young girls have given much of their time to help make Westwood number one.

Girl's Take State Title; Boy's Have Winning Ways

"Stroke! Stroke! Stroke!" All the hard hours of work in the water paid off for Westwood aquatics this year as successful seasons were turned in by both teams.

In only three years of existence, the girls' swim team reached it's peak, overwhelming all opponents in divisionals, and capturing the state meet by a decisive margin (176-107) ahead of runnerup Thunderbird. Coached by Sally Bixby and led by co-captains Kelley Harris and Kathy Brunsdale, the girl's persistent determination in workouts paid off as they proved that they were second to none. It was also the first state championship won by a girls team here at Westwood.

While the girl's swim program was blossoming into a powerhouse, Coach Craig Cummins' boy's team overcame the rough waves of practice to back up a winning tradition. Co-captains Dave Dunning and Tim Greenland-boys seniors-led a swift pack of swimmers throughout the season. With everybody out to knock off the defending state champs, the Tribe splashed past the best of the rest, proving once again that they are number one.

Westwood Has Super Fantastic Football Team

"I think it will take some time for the players to learn what I expect from them, and also for myself to learn what they are capable of doing."

These were the feelings of first year head varsity coach Jerry Loper as his team was preparing for the 1976-77 campaign. Everybody learned awfully quick as the Tribe gridiron machine marched through the season with a powerful reputation.

After a season-opening victory over Alhambra (10-0 on the road) they pleased a home crowd of nearly 9,000 fans with a supurb triumph over arch-rival Mesa High, 29-6. Then, despite a loss to Tempe, the Tribe proved they were no fluke as they stomped past then undefeated and fourth-ranked Marcos DeNiza, 26-7.

Big performances were turned in throughout the year by Lyle Bighorn, Bart Day, Robbie Hargus, Mark Gutierrez, Fred Freeman, Joe Farnsworth, Bill Webster and Craig McLaws.

Surviving One Tie, J.V. Holds Undefeated Season

For Coach Dave Gates' Junior Varsity squad the season was full of roses as sophomores Glenn Loper, Pete Mandley, Terry Turk, Gary Butler, Scott Limbs, and Rick Batchelor led the Tribe to an undefeated season. (or 9-1, 8-2 met)

"We had a couple of pretty tough tests over the season," commented Coach Gates. "Like the Scottsdale game. We were behind till the final two minutes, 6-7. But these boys hung in there and scored twice to wrap it up, winning 21-7. They worked hard and wouldn't give in."

Most teams were simply outclassed by the Warriors as scores of 54-12, 32-6, 47-7 (Mesa gold), and 33-7 (Mesa purple) were chalked up in favor of the Tribe underclassmen.

BELOW: Coach Al Thomas studies the block and tackle of the Apache team for better improvement. OPPOSITE-TOP: With a strong, loud voice, Marcee Yonker cheers the Apache team on to a hopeful victory.

Outstanding Effort and Endless Spirit Failed the Apaches

Knowing they had done their best, the Apache football squad ended their season with a no win, seven loss, one tie season.

The 45 players, recruited at the beginning of the year by Coach Al Thomas, had two close games this season. The first one was against Saguaro with our team at the three yard line when the game ended in a tie. The other close game of the season was against Kofa, in which the Apaches were defeated by one small point.

The five members of the team that outshined the others as far as fighting, spirit, and motivation, were Pete Kiesecker, quarterback; Tom Holloway, fullback; David Elmer, halfback; "Smokey" Bray, end; and Von Fuller, fullback.

All of the men fought hard and gained much valuable experience, which will undoubtedly help them towards the Varsity team in the future.

New Gymnasts Learn Old Gymnasts' Tricks

After working together each day from November through April, Westwood's Boys and Girls Gymnastic teams both came through with winning seasons.

Seniors Spencer Prince (all-around), Richard Griner (parallel bars), and Kelly Overall (rings) headed a top-notch group of male gymnasts as Coach Richard Impson put together another fine squad.

Led by Captain Stacye Tyler and top all-around performer Jan Shelley, the girl gymnasts once again enjoyed a fine season. With Miss Jane Scurr serving her first year as coach, the girls performed not only in dual meets, but also caught the public's eye during several halftime performances at the basketball games.

Junior Lynn Glasenapp, and seniors Karen Skousen and Leslie Woods also contributed to the team's success.

All members of both teams put in many hours of practice each week to perfect their performances.

Wrestlers Win Two; Inexperience Big Factor

"The I's have it," said Coach Jim Kelley when speaking of this years Warrior Wrestling Squad. "Injuries and inexperience is what really hurt us this year."

The Varsity squad finished the season with a 2-8 record, while the JV's had a slightly better 5-7 record. Although the two teams didn't win many matches, there were several individual wrestlers who had outstanding seasons.

Senior Jerry Medina led the Varsity grapplers with a whopping 19 wins and only 8 losses. Jerry also placed fourth in the Chaparral and sixth in the Mesa Invitational Tournaments. An injury in a divisional match kept Jerry from placing in the state meet.

Other outstanding Varsity wrestlers were Mark Gutierrez and Brian Ray. Mark finished second at Chaparral and fourth in the Divisional meet. Brian placed sixth in the Mesa Tournament and fourth in Divisionals. The leading Junior Varsity Wrestler was Ron Martinez with an 8-3-1 record.

Coach Kelley was proud of his wrestlers. "Even when the going was rough, they never gave up. They're a tough bunch of men."

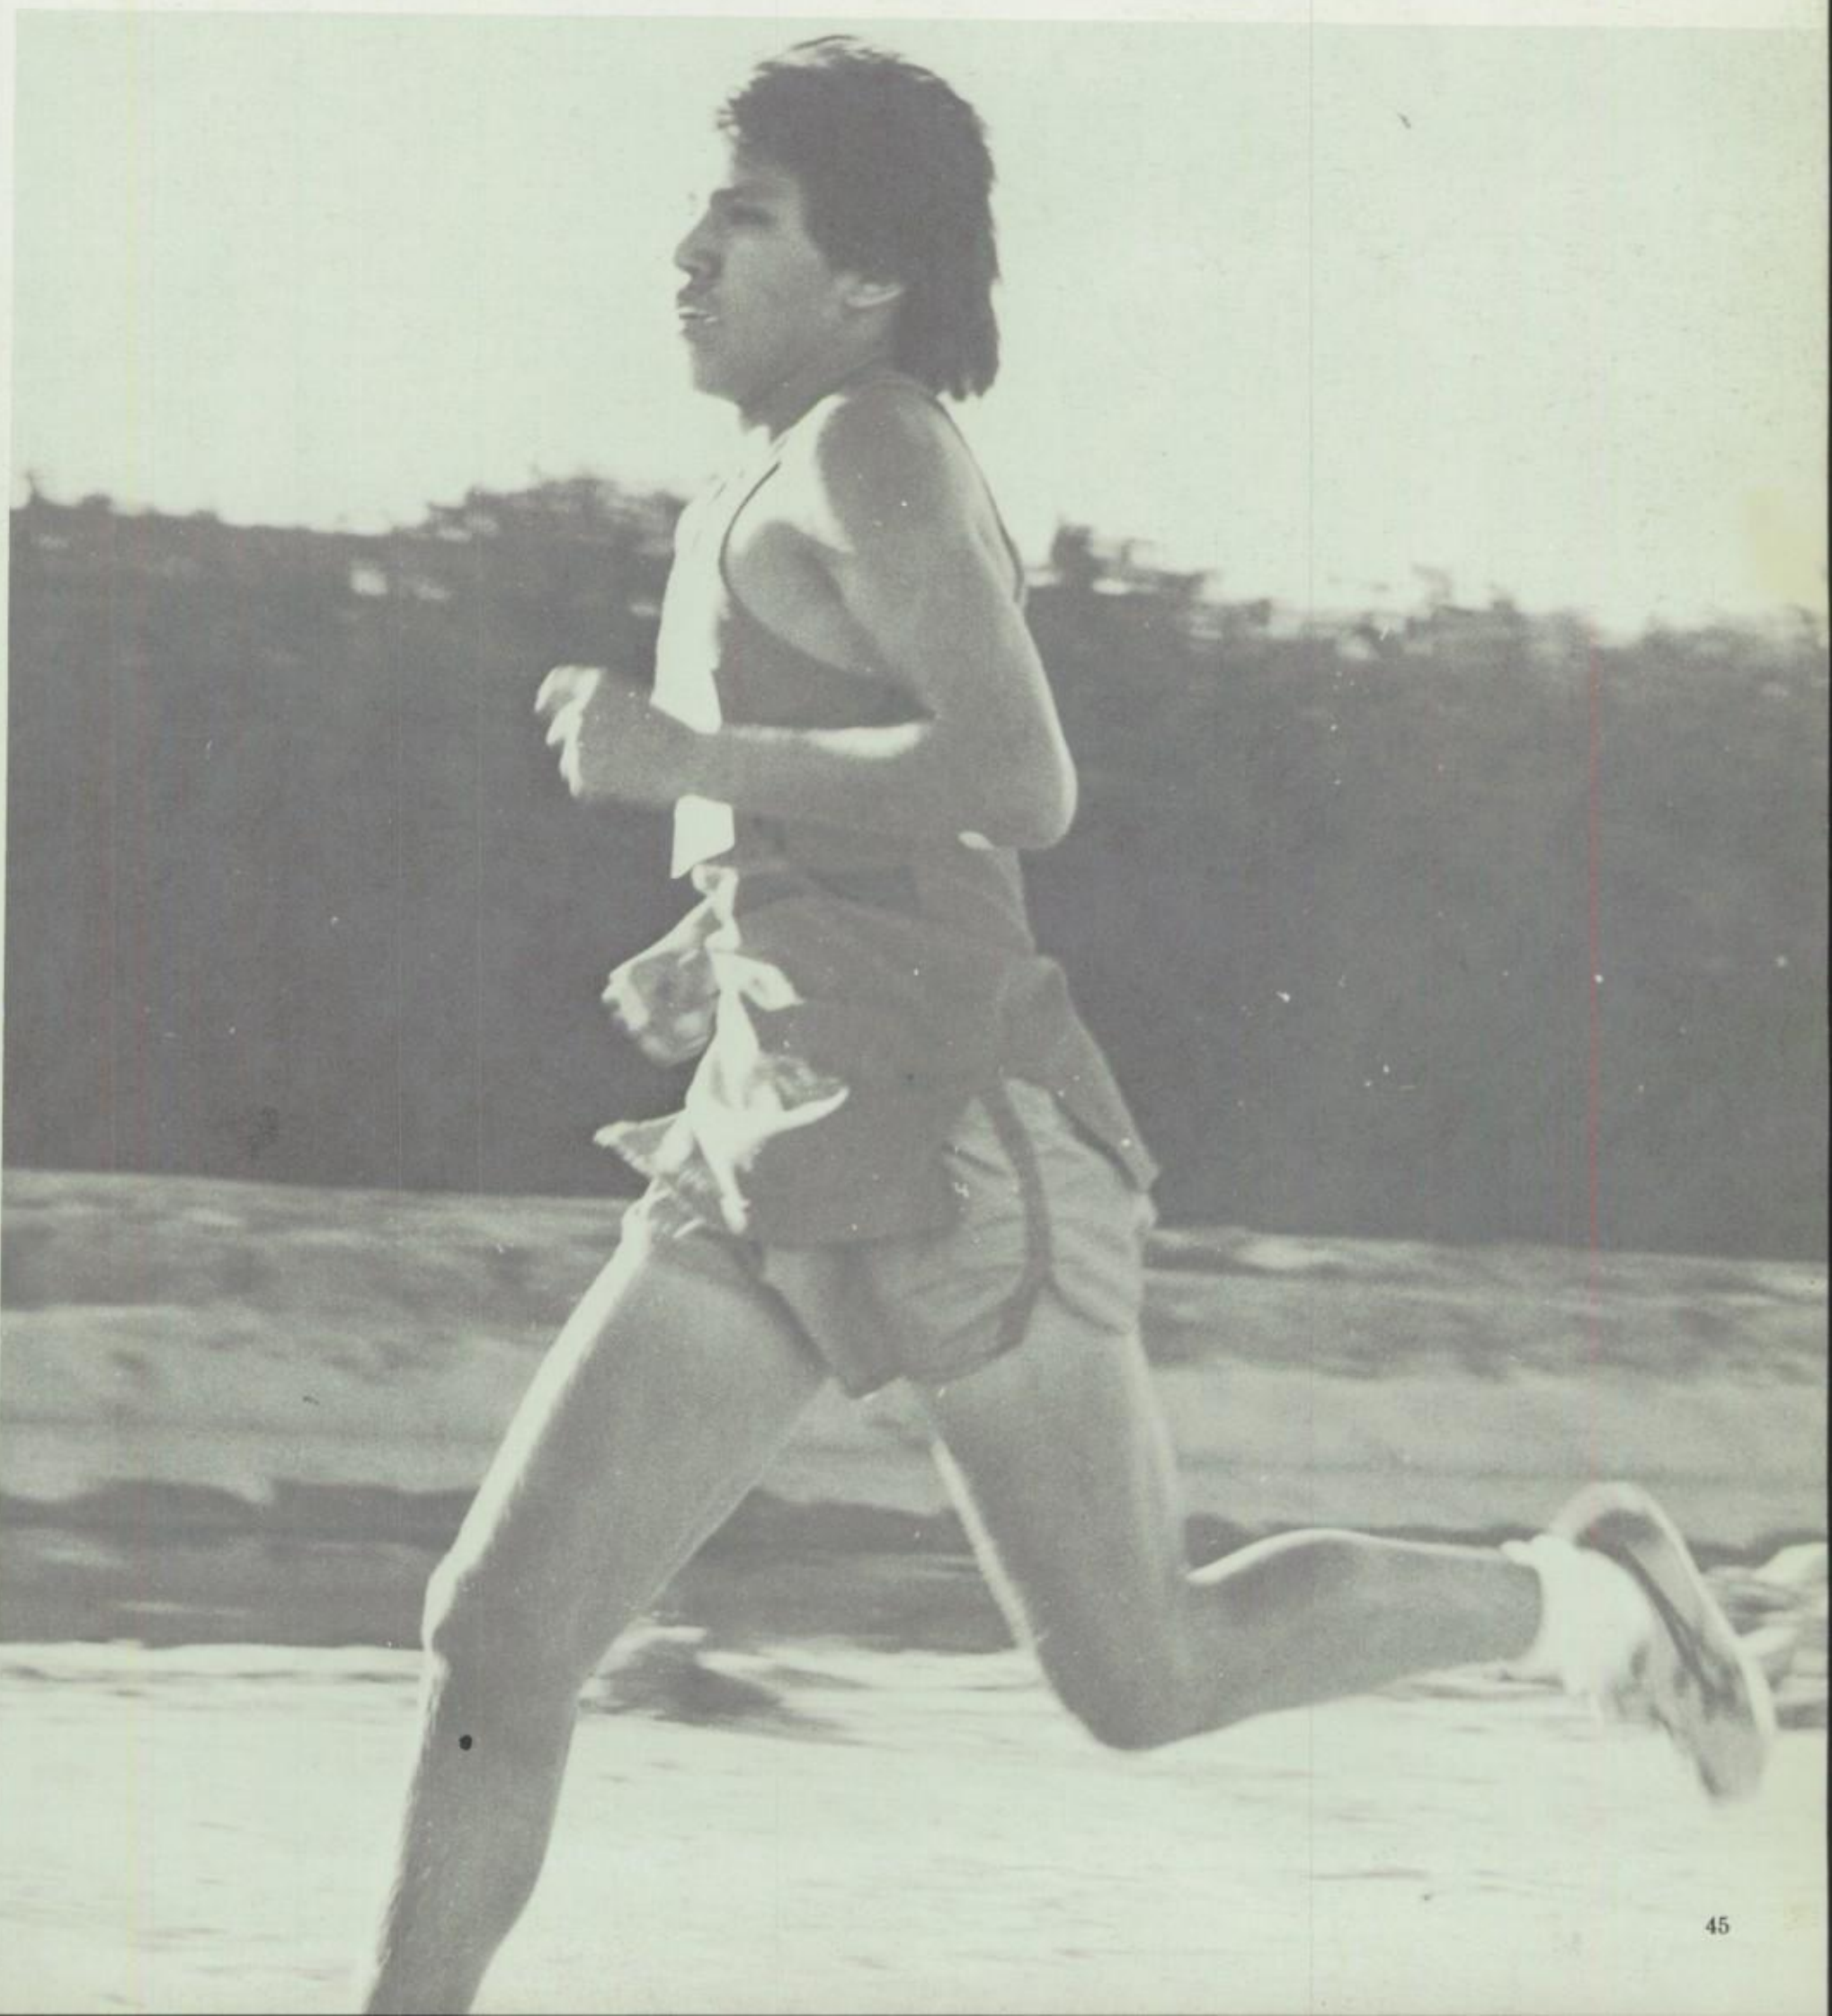
"First Ever" City Championship Won by Runners

There was a lot "afoot" this year in the Westwood Cross Country Team. Warrior tradition proved to be as strong as ever when the Varsity ended the season with a 12-2 dual meet record and capturing the "first ever" City Championship Trophy. The J.V. team was undefeated this season with a 12-0 dual meet record.

Starting the season with few experienced runners, Coach Jerry Jobski feels they did a great job. Leading the Warriors were seniors Brian Merrill and Pete Bradshaw; juniors Ray Ochoa, Bob Burns, and Brian Ray. These five runners led the Warrior team to a fourth place finish in the Central Division Championships, and eighth in state. Ochoa, Burns, and Ray will all return next year with promising sophomores Larry Tryon, Jeff Ferrell, and Phil Tau.

Each year brings many surprises. This year the Cross Country Team had its first girl runner, Susie Lawerence with them.



Varsity Teamwork Results in a Winning Season; JV's Come Through With an Excellent Season

Throwing, batting, stealing, and running were the well-developed techniques of the varsity squad that led them to their winning season. Under the direction of Coach Joyce Tominaga, the girls played with style in every move. Once they got up to bat the pressure was on and it never let up.

Taking time off from his classroom duties, Mr. Larry Juniper gave his time to the JV team. The girls worked hard and learned to apply every instruction directed to them.

Conditioning, practicing, and learning for four long months of their season these girls can be proud of the seasons outcome. The squad shows many promising players for the years to come. Westwood will not have to worry about it's softball teams, for they can take care of themselves and anyone else that gets in their way.

Swinging Into Action
Team Invisions Success

When the Varsity Baseball squad opened action on March 1, they had two goals in mind. The first, was to exit as the winner in a clash with cross-town rival Mesa High. The second, and perhaps upmost to the Warriors, was to utilize the skills taught them by new varsity mentor George Downing.

Coach Downing, a physical education instructor at Mesa Junior High School, came to Arizona from Colorado and played baseball at Mesa Community College and Arizona State University.

Excited about his first year coaching the Westwood team, Coach Downing named a few players he expected to contribute most to the year's success. Listed as starting pitchers were Daylan Barton, Kevin Whiteley, and Craig Moody. Barton also played outfield and Whiteley was used as shortstop. Other starters included Bart Day, catcher; Brent McCleve, first base; Keith Pickens and Glenn Smith, infield; Rick Acuna, third base; Kevin Garrison, left field, and David Crouse, outfield.

Junior Varsity Coach Al Thomas named Darren McCleve as starting ace for the J.V. Warriors, whose season also began March 1 against the Jackrabbits. Other players who contributed to the Junior Varsity season were Mike Tompkins, second base; Glenn Loper and Von Fuller, catchers; Lane Reynolds, shortstop; Charlie Foran, third base; Gary Butler, left field.

Dear Will it can't believe this is the end of the year! How this summer I want you to write me. And when you move up to I want you to get with a good group! And stay GOOD

Love ya lots

Girls Play to Win; Sportsmanship Is Goal

The Girls Varsity Volleyball Team finished the 76-77 season in winning style by racking up a 9-3 record. Hours of practice, hard work and a lot of time was put in by the team to make it a winning machine.

Mary Schuster moved the team right into the season with her great serving and defensive moves. Other star players, Gail Wiegert and Marla Stapley, kept the spirit up and moved the team along with their outstanding spiking.

Mr. Frank Mounts known to the Westwood Girls Archery Team as Coach Mounts, led the girls through a very exciting season.

Heading the team were the fearsome-foursome which consisted of Marilyn Mulkins, Karen Hopkins, Ann Dearinger and Jeanetta Daniels. This group of young athletes created all kinds of problems for the enemy squads. All the girls came to realize that archery indeed is a team sport. It's not an individual one, because individual points are totaled for team scores.

Girls Make Team; Guys Really Swing

An addition was made to the boys Golf Team this year in the form of three girls, the first ever to participate on the Westwood Golf Team. These three girls, Jvonnie Johnson, Mary Tibshraeny and Grace Egner, all competed on an equal basis with other teams, whether the members were male or female.

In April the Golf Team competed in the Francisco Grande Tournament and another tournament, which took place in Yuma. Schools from all over Arizona took an active part in both of these tournaments.

The top men of the season were the six returning seniors, Dean Bird, John Christensen, Dave DeGroff, Lynn Johnson, Ken Preston and Lynn Ziolko.

The new members of the team, Phil Nettles, Mark Ervin, Neil Selleck, Casey Morrison, Richard Wyman, Den Stapley, and Jon Dongell proved to be valuable assets.

Braves Take Division; End up Fourth in State

The agony of defeat seemed to puncture the Tribe's winning ways a little too often as the season opened, but Coach Buddy Doolen's squad put it together by the time league play rolled around. They finished second in the tough Central Division B League, making the playoffs for the fourth year in a row.

Like a time bomb ready to explode, the Warrior offense seemed nearly unstoppable at times. Forwards Doug Purdom and Don Wynn, and center Brian Gatewood held a height advantage and rebound inng edge over most opponents. Guards Joe Clark, Bill Webster, Bruce Cooper and Lyle Bighorn rotated in the backcourt to provide a balanced attack from outside. Junior Clifford Rodgers and sophomore Scott Kroscell put a spark of enthusiasm and hustle in the team, while gaining some valuable experience at the varsity level.

On the Junior Varsity circuit, Coach Bill Betz did quite a job molding two juniors and ten sophomores into a unit that put together one of the best records in the state at 16-3.

Tennis Teams Prove Able Contenders for Rivals

This year's Boys Tennis Team started out the season in top form by being ranked in the top twenty nationally.

The Varsity Team saw this as a great challenge, and each member took it as a personal challenge to keep this ranking. In the beginning of the season Coach John Lumm said of the team, "They're multi-talented and experienced. They have a good possibility to take state." Such outstanding players as junior John McFarland and senior Dean Frazier battled all year, not only for the number one slot on the team, but to place as number one in the state.

The Junior Varsity Team made a good showing this year. An all-knowing Coach John Lumm said of the team, "I knew that although they were relatively inexperienced, they had great potential." New members, throughout the season, gained the experience which makes them great varsity players.

This year's Girls Tennis Team began the season by setting their sights on divisionals. With the return of only two varsity players, Lori Judd and Princess McClelland, the team was classified as inexperienced, but proved to be strong. As the season progressed, the new varsity players demonstrated remarkable improvement. Coach Yollie Munoz stated that "the team really worked hard by practicing two and one half hours a day." Challenge matches, for team position, were used as a means of self improvement and to gain experience.

The toughest competition of the season was thought to be Saguaro and Chaparral High Schools, but the mighty Warriors came through with flying colors.

The Junior Varsity team excelled in performance, with four potential Varsity players. When asked to comment on this junior team, Coach Munoz said, "They're going to be good."

Dawn,

It's been really nice knowing you. But I'm really glad that we became closer friends this year. Thanks alot for listening to my problems. I hope you find the right guy, that treats you good. Because you really deserve it. We'll have to get together this summer and go somewhere or do something! Hey, thanks alot for being such a good friend. Have fun this summer & don't do anything I wouldn't do. Take care. Keep in touch (964-3339)

P.S. Hope I have you in some of my classes next year.

Friends Always

Winning Track Teams Earn Pride of Westwood

With a pre-season ranking in the top ten, the Westwood Boys Track Team dashed into the 1977 season.

The squad, coached by Jerry Jobski, were pre-season favorites to win the Divisional Title and to place high in the state meet. Coronado, McClintock, and Marcos de Niza were the other top contenders in the league.

The team was led by many talented athletes. Leading them in the 100 and 220 yard dashes were seniors Willie Lott and Rob Hargus. The top miler for the team was junior Ray Ochoa, while junior John Giles was the number one man in the 330 intermediate hurdles. The field events were led by senior Greg Coulter and junior Phil Suter.

Coach Jobski felt that this was one of his best squads in years. "Potentially this squad has more talent than any in the state, all that they need is to work as a team."

With high hopes for a State and a Divisional Championship, the Westwood Girls Track Team jumped into their first season of competition.

The squad, coached by Mr. Richard Bramwell and Ms. Sally Bixby, were the pre-season choice to win the Central Division Title and to finish tops in the state meet. Coronado and Marcos de Niza were also right in the thick of the league competition.

Many talented girls were on this year's team. Leading the team in the mile and two mile run was Sheri Dycus, a freshman from Carson. Connie Jackson led the squad in the hurdles while Anita Anderson and Janice Nielson were tops in the sprinting events. In the field events, Priscilla Parchcorn was the leading shot putter and discus thrower.

Ms. Bixby felt the team's performance was great. "It gives many opportunitites to the girls. It is so important that they be able to compete."

Students Enjoy Music, Drama and Playing Games

Masque and Dagger allowed poised thespians the opportunity to work together to promote interest in the theater. The club, sponsored by Mr. Jay Dean Jones, provided entertaining one-act plays, helped with publicity for all dramatic productions at Westwood, and made the presentation of the best actor and actress awards at the annual Awards Assembly.

Contemporary Music Club members gave harmony a big push around the school. The club provided a more enjoyable lunch hour by playing music in the cafeteria and also sponsored various disco dances throughout the year.

The members of Simwar, or Simulated War, enjoyed studying battle strategies employed by great leaders of the past. They played a multitude of war games including "Tactics II", "Third Reich", and "Panzer Army Africa."

The Lettermen Club, sponsored by Mr. Bob Soza, was a group who raised money in different ways for various sport teams this year.

FFA Takes Honors; Makes School Proud

Because of their outstanding drive to be the best, Future Farmers of America brought many honors to Westwood. In early November, the Westwood Chapter of FFA sent three teams representing Arizona to Kansas City for national competition. All three teams did extremely well, including several individual competitors.

"Food for America" was the theme used to teach elementary school children about foods and nutrition. By touring different elementary schools this provided an excellent opportunity for FFA members to gain experience with small children as well as learn about good nutrition themselves.

Fun, education, and fund raising were all combined. The traditional money making projects (raising and selling poinsettias) were a big success, while a new idea of selling wheat and barley was tried. Some educational projects included raising calves and learning gardening techniques.

FFA advisor Mr. Richard Sawyer viewed the club as offering a wide source of activities so that there would be something that appealed to everyone. "We're the number one club on campus!" he exclaimed.

Westwood's FFA chapter added their talent and devotion to Westwood to live up to their usual standard of excellence.

Clubs Do for Others; Promote School Spirit

Among the many new clubs started this year was the Science Fiction Club. The members worked hard to bring a convention called Tri-Con to Westwood. Although the "dream" of a convention did not become a reality this year, it was hoped that a "joint" convention could be arranged next year.

The Christian Youth of America formed a strong organization, with a membership that was larger than it had been in previous years. Members were kept busy with many activities, such as a candy sale and a spring retreat.

"S" Club was a busy club this year, as they worked to aid the Mesa community, with such projects as ushering for the Mesa Symphony Concerts and Christmas caroling. In March, California was the spot for the annual "S" Club convention where "S" Clubs from all over America met.

Clubs Active in Community

Tutoring was just one of the interests in Student Action for Education. SAE also raised money for many different causes. Selling seat cushions for Muscular Dystrophy was just one.

Earning many points in interscholastic competition for Westwood kept Speech and Debate busy. Some of the outstanding members classified for the National Forensic League.

Chicanos Unidos put on a terrific Christmas Assembly which included dancing, singing, and Santa Claus. The club wasn't only for Chicanos and unity was felt by all.

Spirit, AV, Ebony Promote Unity and Understanding

A new dimension was added to Westwood this year when the Audio Visual Club was formed. This group, composed of interested students, made newsreels for the school. These newsreels, called "Westwood Spotlight", highlighted sports, skits, and assemblies.

Yelling and keeping the spirit up was what Westwoods War Eagles Spirit Club was all about. The club's greatest accomplishment was the silver Card Section, which was stationed at the top of the bleachers at football games. The Card Section brought people together and more spirit to the almighty campus of Westwood.

Those who were active in the Ebony Club worked to promote a better understanding of the heritage of black people. This years Ebony Club made it possible to look forward to another year of involvement.

Dates and Clean Rings Provided by New Clubs

Two unique clubs that were added to Westwood's campus this year were the Humor Society and Hustlers International. Although students were never sure what would be planned next, both clubs always accomplished the unexpected.

Humor Society existed to combat Muscular Dystrophy, not for the sake of themselves. Peculiar fund-raising events included a class ring wash, a hub-cap wash, and a guppy cooking seminar.

Hustlers International was one of the most publicized clubs on campus. It's main function was to promote a way of casual dating. A good example was their matching up of dateless people for Homecoming and the Christmas formal. Consisting of 150 students, they all worked toward the Club-of-the-Year award. Fund raising highlights were selling See's suckers, and concessions at football games. Procedes went towards service projects and a banquet.

Fried Bread and Snow Are Two Club Benefits

Those looking for travel, fun, and adventure joined Ski and Outing Club. This club was open to anyone who liked, or would like to learn, to ski and hike. They were known to travel to Purgatory for an exciting weekend of skiing. They also ventured into the mountains to hike. Throughout the year, Ski and Outing planned and attended fun-filled, action-packed weekend camping trips. Many new friends and pleasant memories remain with all the members who participated.

The Awathum Clay was very active this year. They accomplished many things including an excellent assembly in January. This club of approximately 40 members sold Indian Fry Bread and had car washes to raise funds so they were able to attend the Indian Cultural Day at Scottsdale Community College and have a special seminar from the district Indian Counseling Service.

Leagues Push Activities, Stage Crew Lights up

A lot of time and talent was shown by Westwood's Stage Crew as they kept numerous performances running smoothly this year. The crew's job, under the direction of Stage Manager Glynn McCarter, included building sets and controlling sound and lights for all stage productions.

Girls League, under the guidance of President Miki Brown, accomplished many projects. Sponsoring the annual Girl-Ask-Boy Week was the biggest. The week concluded with the fantastic Co-Ed Formal.

Working along with the girls on many activities was Boys League. The league, led by Jim Lee, with Ted Morphis acting as vice-president, began their busy year by selling concessions at home football games. Holiday projects included helping a needy family at Thanksgiving and sponsoring the beautiful Christmas Formal.

NHS Tops in School; Visions Third Publication

Visions was Westwood's literary magazine composed of students' work. Mr. Duane Richmond, the Visions advisor, commented, "It gives students who like to write a good experience." In Visions students were chosen by teacher recommendation, according to their artistic and writing ability. The magazine price was fifty cents and consisted of poetry and short stories. Art work was also included in the magazine.

The National Honor Society had a reputation for taking students whose roots were steeped in personality, scholarship, and citizenship, and collecting them into a powerful force for goodwill at Westwood High.

Nineteen seventy-seven was no exception, and dedicated NHS members could be seen about school helping out with Open House or aiding the Boy's League in preparing the Boy's Gym to serve the Christmas Formal.

Language Members Have Many Projects For Groups' Needs

German Club had a fun and busy year selling pretzels and candles. They also held an OKTOBERFEST (a German holiday for celebrating the harvest) with Mesa High and Mountain View German Clubs. Frau Bailey, German Club sponsor commented, "I think it's a very active club and I'm proud of the things they've done."

French Club became famous by filling Westwood tummies with yummy French pastries throughout the year. They also raised money for the American Field Service and a Foreign Language Scholarship. Dinner at a French restaurant ended a super year.

Latin Club accompanied Spanish Club to the Foreign Language banquet at Grand Canyon College. They also helped raise about 200 dollars for a Foreign Language Scholarship.

Dancers Strive to Achieve High Goals

Jazz, ballet, and modern dancing were just a few of the varieties performed by Dance production. Under the direction of Mrs. Laurie Zarkou, this group started off the year by performing to "Shop Around" in Curtain Time. The girls also provided programs for elementary schools and the community. Mrs. Zarkou commented on the group saying, "They're one of my best groups ever."

Operating together with their sister company, Dance Club, they had many exciting projects. Keeping with tradition, they sponsored the Ririe Woodbury Dance Company. For this and other special treats, like attending concerts at Grady Gammage, they had numerous fund-raising projects. An evening of dance and drama, and having their own spring concert were the highlights of the Dance Club and Dance Production.

Countless Hours of Work; Dedication to the School; Memories That Linger on

The Chieftain is a vast publication, numbering nearly 300 pages in length . . . pages full of pictures, words and creative arrangement. It just goes to reason, then, that it takes a staff of equally vast potential to put out such a book.

The 1977 Chieftain Staff certainly measured up to the challenge. It wasn't easy for them either. Many were the nights when the staffers were forced to take layouts home and watch the sun rise as they worked. More common than that were the hungry boys and girls working their way diligently through lunch to make this the best yearbook ever.

And if that wasn't enough, they smilingly agreed to go the extra mile. Yes, the 1977 staffers gave the school what they wanted. The school wanted Curtain Time in color, despite the great expense which would skyrocket costs over the yearbook's budget limit.

These fine young American sold ticket upon ticket in their spare time for money-raisers such as "The Three and Four Musketeers" movies. Also, they worked long hours at a football game giving all their energy to make big bucks selling concessions. At Penney's, while taking inventory for the store, it was the same story of hard work and sacrifice.

It was difficult going, but not impossible for people of such vast resources and super-human stamina.

"Talented" Staff Sets Mark for Future Staffers

What adjective, more than any other, can characterize the hard working, dedicated, cheerful, motivated 1977 War Chant Staff? That adjective must surely be "talented".

Talent had to be involved in the many creative manifestations of War Chant '77. From professional realism to satiric parody, every new issue set a mark for future staffers to reach for.

But talent must be tempered with courtesy, and despite the late nights, which seemed to come all too often during the week, the War Chant took time out to lend a hand in resolving the obligations of others. They joined in with the Chieftain Staff to reach the goal of paying for extra color pages in the yearbook.

Time and labor were given, no questions asked, in selling tickets, working a concession stand, and taking inventory for six long hours until midnight. These young journalists just enjoyed helping others.

In return, the yearbook photographers stayed up hours past morning to develop and print detailed, superior photographs for the newspaper. Their dedication, along with that of the 1977 War Chant Staff, as a whole, can never be forgotten.

Employment Groups Have Working World Chances

Challenge and co-operation were only two of the very important principles applied to this years Distributive Education Clubs of America.

Members of DECA not only enjoyed various club activities in which they helped and improved different aspects of the community, but also listened to several guest lecturers and attended conventions throughout the valley to improve their leadership qualities.

Marketing and merchandising were a few of the many benefits offered to students when they participated in both DECA class and club functions.

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America continued their tradition of keeping themselves busy this past year. If trade, industry, technical work, or health was something you were interested in, then VICA was the club to find. By broadening perspective through inter-club and inter-state competition, the services provided by this notable club was something that Westwood could be extremely thankful for.

Home Economics Related Occupations was a work-experience program on campus for those students interested in future careers in the field of home economics.

Part of the curriculum included different aspects of child-care and care for the elderly or injured. Students involved in HERO also learned about home furnishing, food services and personal services. They received all of their training on the job.

Clubs Provide Jobs; Experienced Gained

Combining academics and job experience together, was accomplished by Co-operative Office Education. COE was designed for seniors who wished to develop job skills and job adjustment through varied in-class experience and on-the-job training. Preparation for further education, learning to finance marriage plans, supporting a household, and trying to combat the high cost of living were just some of the benefits of COE.

While each student maintained a minimum of fifteen hours per week in an office-related job, the forty-five COE members also managed to find time for other activities. Some activities included giving party favors to Marc School for Halloween, and visiting the elderly at rest homes. Typing and indexing for different organizations raised money along with car washes and "selling themselves" to people in the community as slaves for a day.

Dealing with interests in industrial and medical areas was what Industrial Co-operative Education was all about. ICE consisted of seniors who had applied and were chosen because of their personalities, grades, and leadership. "Preparing for leadership in the world of work," was their slogan.

Career Lab was a class for the student with special needs, both economical and personal. They were employed in jobs that would provide them with experience for later life.

Choruses Add Great Momentum to Music

The two new choruses, whose members were just getting started in Westwood's Music Department, got into the swing through their numerous performances.

The Beginning Chorus did not have an idle year. They were kept busy performing duets and full choral numbers at rest homes and Marc School. Mrs. Betty Anderson, the choir's director, felt the small group, primarily sophomores, had lots of spirit. The members of this chorus had fun and learned many fundamentals.

Westwood Ensemble, mainly comprised of sophomores was under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth White. They combined with other choruses throughout the year for such holiday performances as Thanksgiving and Christmas. The chorus itself was a "training choir" and most of the members have high hopes to move up into Honor Choir in upcoming years.

Music Students Perform; Delight Valley Groups

Beautiful sounds and good music came from the choral department through the Singing Warriors, Trebleaires, and Concert Choir.

Singing Warriors and Trebleaires were very small groups consisting of twelve sophomore young men and twenty young ladies. Many hours of hard work were put forth to accomplish good performances in joint concerts with other choral groups and holiday performances. Trebleaires was under the direction of Mrs. Arlene Bateman, while Singing Warriors was directed by Mrs. Elizabeth White.

Sixty-five talented juniors and seniors made up a terrific Concert Choir. Their major concert was the annual and traditional Canticle in Carols, an excellent Christmas performance enjoyed immensley by their audience. Other concerts and activities included school assemblies, joint choral performances, a trip to Snowflake, a choral workshop with Jester Harriston, and Colossal Classics.

I'm glad that you're in Apyw.
These last few months
I've really enjoyed seeing
you. You've changed alot.
I hope we can get to know each other better and be able to do Things together this summer. Do what you know right. And as you learn and grow you'll be happy. Good luck. Cathy Wade

Groups Combine to Produce Beautiful Music

Something borrowed, something blue, something old, something new. The top choirs of Westwood had a great year with borrowed talent, dresses blue, Honor Choir-old, and Intonares-new!

Intonares, a new group this year, was begun by Mrs. Elizabeth White to compensate for the overload of great female voices that tried out for Honor Choir. Twenty-five girls made final cuts for the Intonares.

Each member of the two choirs made the group a big success including Music Machine and the back-up band. Every performance began with Intonares, followed by Honor Choir, and ended with both groups singing, "The Lord Bless You And Keep You." They participated in Solo and Ensemble and Regional Music Festivals, and sold "Spirit Buttons" for every football game. On October 22, they sponsored a dance in which some choir members sang. It was a very busy, happy, and satisfying year.

Motto "Ain't Too Shabby" Sends Strings on Tour

Maintaining its high caliber of performance, the Orchestra was kept busy this year performing in approximately twenty events.

Durango, Colorado was the destination of the Orchestra this year. Traveling with Warrior Band, the Orchestra toured for four days in April, spreading their music everywhere they went.

Orchestra members participated in a Solo and Ensemble Festival in Durango, as well as performing in a concert with Warrior Band and Jazz Band.

The Orchestra participated in both the NAU and the ASU Music Festivals, and as in the past years, received superior ratings.

As usual, many Westwood students partook in the All-State and Solo and Ensemble Festival, showing their skill in solo and ensemble performances.

The groups slogan, "Orchestra ain't too shabby", was confirmed by their excellent performances throughout the year. The group was under the fine leadership and guidance of Mr. William Englesman.

Showcase Strolls; Jazz Band Swings

Showcase Strings strolled their way to fame, captivating audiences statewide with their usual manner. The eighteen members, selected by audition, performed at conventions, trailer parks, schools, and various hotels, such as the Hyatt Regency and Camelback Inn. The group played a wide variety of music, including chamber-music, popular tunes, and jazz for strings. "There's no other high school group like it in the nation", stated William E. Engelsman, director of the strings.

Jazz Ensemble was also an outstanding and enjoyable group at Westwood. Fine talent and hard work made a rewarding combination this year. The director, Bob Cunningham, although new to Westwood, provided good leadership. "I think the group is very good", he commented. Various performances included festivals, concerts, and performances at junior highs and elementary schools. The music ranged from the 1930's to today. The twenty-one member ensemble put out an exceptional effort which emerged from every performance.

Leadership Changes; Band Works Hard

Beginning at 7:00 a.m. in curlers and cut-offs, the Warrior Band marched into another year of traditions, accompanied by new experiences. They kept up their customs of playing at football games, concerts, and for ASU Band Day. Recognition came their way as they performed during half-time at the ASU vs. Colorado game, and advanced down Central Avenue in the Fiesta Bowl Parade.

Individuality was a big part of them this year, as many members participated in Regional and All-State Bands. A Solo and Ensemble Festival in Durango, Colorado inspired these Warriors to go on tour to show their talents country-wide.

Mr. Bob Cunningham was an important individual as he came this year to direct these fine musicians. Known as "B.C.", he impressed students with comments like, "He ain't too shabby!" Mr. Cunningham helped the Warrior Band start a new tradition of pep assemblies in the gym, which will hopefully linger on for years to come.

Spirit of Apache Band Shoots Sky High

Drums beat and horns blew as the members of the Apache Band marched their way to glory. The band consisted of sixty members. They performed in many parades and concert performances, as well as in numerous marching routines for pre-game shows at Varsity football games.

Throughout the year they competed with other schools of the same quality for ratings from judges.

Directing the band department as a rookie this year was Mr. Bob Cunningham. He commented that despite the loss of forty-percent of the band students moving to Mountain View, the spirit and quality was just as high this year as in the past. Mr. Cunningham also stated, "The enthusiasm this year was sky high, and I would like to see more people play in Apache Band next year." He had a great first year at Westwood, and is looking forward to many more.

Activities Key to School Unification

As the waves turn the minutes to hours,
We realize that Westwood is like a second home.
It's a place to get to know one another,
And also ourselves.
The opportunities and friendships we have had
Will prove worthy in the road ahead.
The Student Council of Westwood has goverened our school well.
These few have given so much to keep Westwood "moving up".
Their persistence in working often goes unoticed,
But the benefits derived have helped us all.
Westwood is indeed a school to be proud of.
We, along with many others, have made it great.
Although the faces will change in the years to follow,
The same Warrior spirit will remain forever.

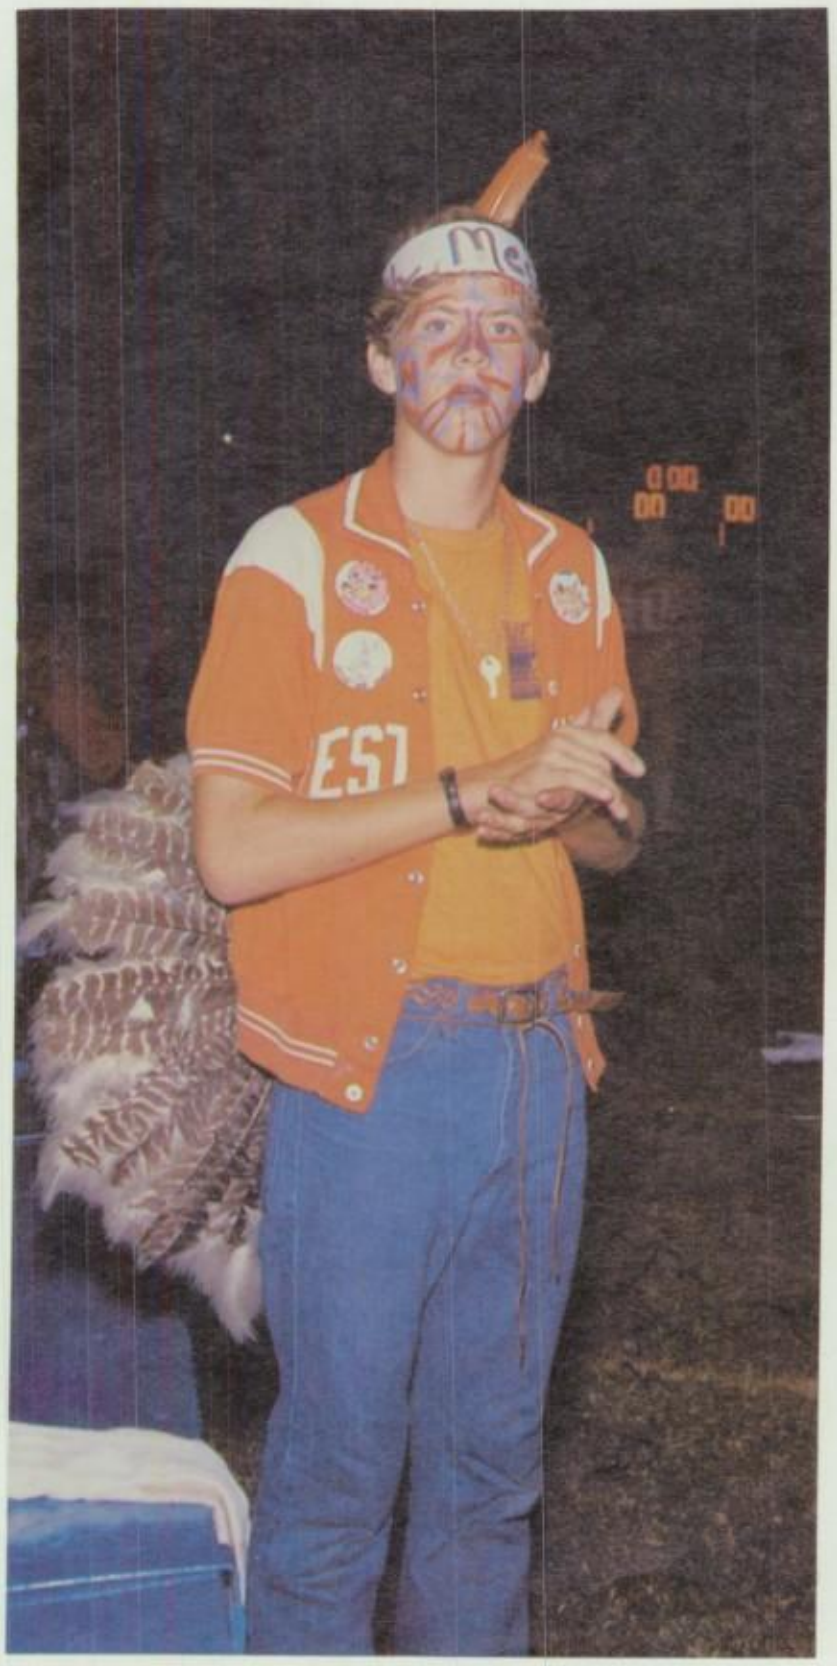
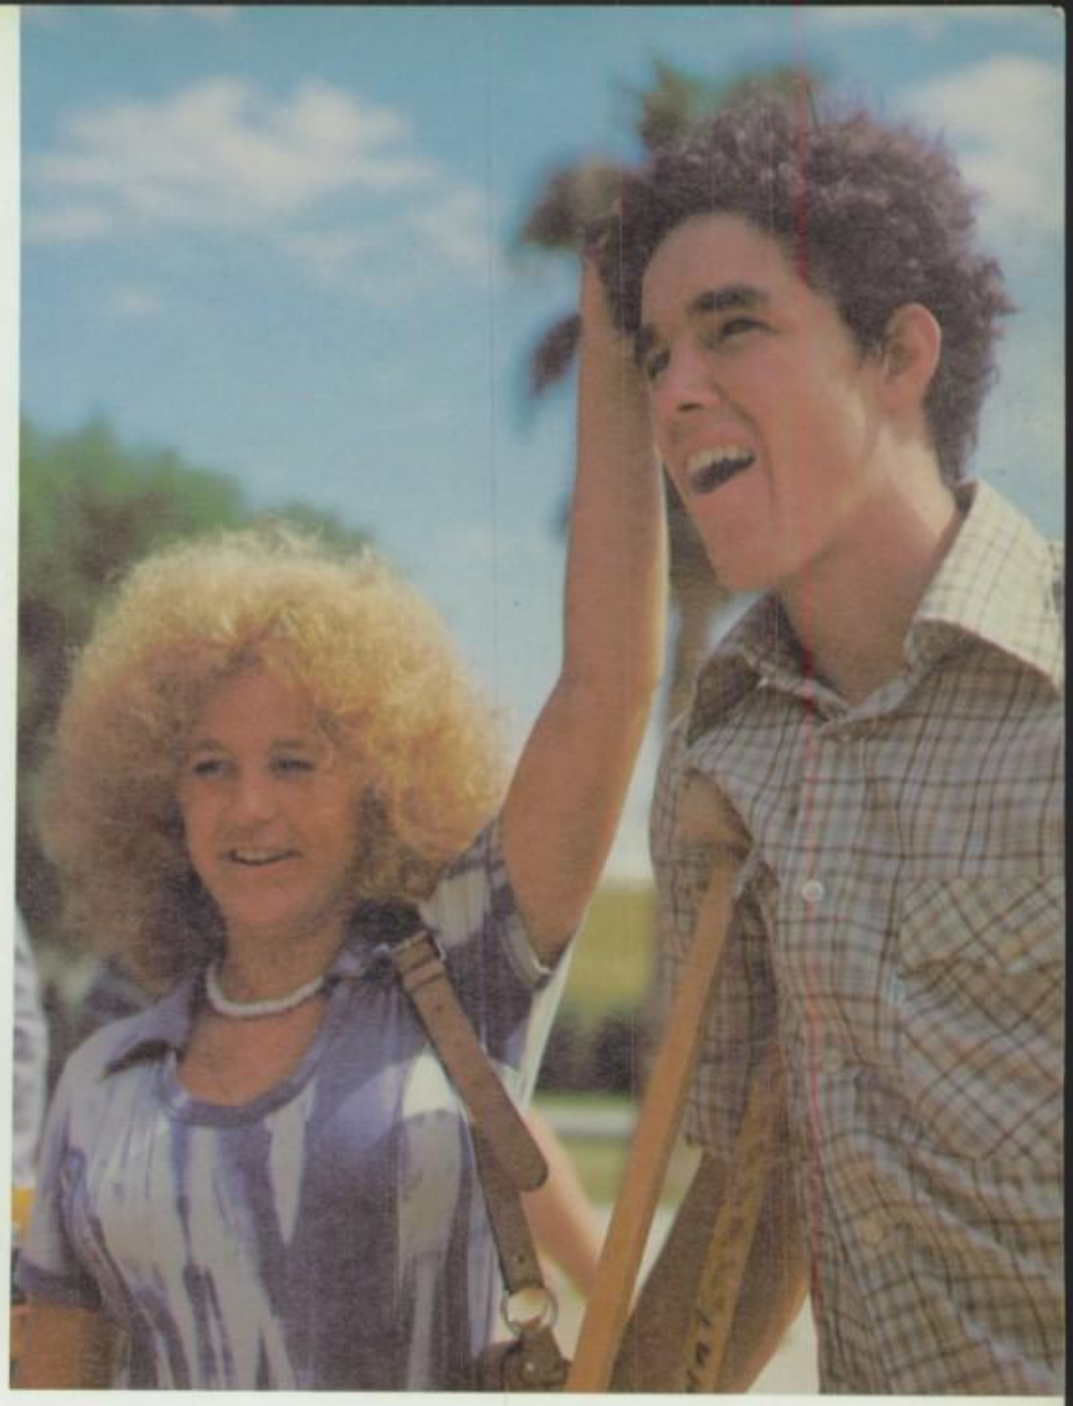
Week Ends With Rain

Mesa-Westwood Week started with lots of anticipation and excitement that intensified as the days quickly passed. Plans for the week included lollipop licking for Lick 'Em Day, boots and far-out frizzy hair for Tease the Hares and Stomp 'Em Day, while Mash 'Em Day brought out everyones favorite snack, M&M's. Chew 'Em Up Day commenced with more gum chewing and bubble chewing than usual.

Finally, as the excitement began climbing to a peak, Friday poured in. The pep assembly was very successful, with the help of a dead jackrabbits tearful speech. The traditional funeral was staged during both lunches, and a few hours later the game began.

Rainy weather didn't stop the game or dampen anyones spirits. This was evident as Westwood drenched Mesa with a final score of 29-6.





Hello Assembly Ignites Spirit

Being selected as the outstanding high school in Arizona certainly started off the year with a bang, as Westwood was presented with the H.A.Hendrickson Award at the Opening assembly.

Following this presentation, Bob Spiel was officially sworn in as Student-body President by Assistant Principal Bill White. The council was then sworn in and Westwood blasted off to another fantastic year.

The Week-end Warrior News, brought to you by Student Council, featured Rudolph Rambo, and Donald Duckworth "Woman on the Street". The weather reporter informed us of floods of Sophie tears in the halls, thunder clouds above the office, and tornado-like winds on the field as the football team prepared to cream the enemy.

As the assembly came to a close, the band, Warriorettes, and cheerleaders marched in. The bottled-up spirit was finally let loose, and everyone left with high hopes for a new year.

Spirited Class Takes Pow Wow

Energy vibrated on Brimhall Field, Oct. 14 as the Warriors gathered at the Pow Wow for the first class showdown.

Pulling for points, the classes competed in a tug-of-war. Class presidents drew cards, the lowest card battling first. Seniors and Sophies met on the field and displayed enough energy to break the rope. The tug-of-war commenced once again with twenty members from each class. Seniors defeated Sophies and then the Juniors thwarted Seniors. The win was a first for the class of '78.

The class of '79 stole the attendance points, with Seniors taking cheering and decorations. Juniors came to life by pulling the tug-of-war points. The class of '77 couldn't hold back their excitement when it was announced that they had won the Pow Wow with a 16 point total.

Sophie Voters Elect; McCleve Victorious

Rushing Sophomores could be seen all over Westwood the second week of school, as they prepared for their elections. "Have you signed for Sophie Pres.?" could be heard in the halls, Monday through Wednesday, as petitions were passed around. Wednesday at the stroke of midnight, Sophomores scrambled to situate their posters. Thursday, the candidates made themselves known to Westwood by passing out stickers. Excitement reached a high as Friday rolled around and the candidates presented their campaign speeches to the class of '79.

As the last ballot was cast and each vote counted the Sophomores anxiously awaited the results of their election. Squeals of delight were heard throughout the school as Darrin McCleve was announced Sophomore President, Kandee Button Vice-President, and Judene Ray as Secretary. The Publicity Directors were Tammy Hyler and Mitzi Melville.

The Alumni Returned; The Rains Followed

November 12th began with the annual, traditional Homecoming assembly. It provided many performances by alumni and humorous skits by emcees Jim Wright, Jim Testa, Tony Flores, and Gary Jones. A rousing display of rhythm by Warrior drummers raised spirited hearts for the showdown against McClintock on Brimhall Field that night.

In spite of the drizzles, Warrior cheers rang out loud throughout the game. But, alas, the tribe dropped a heartbreaker to the Chargers on a wet and muddy field. The rains also cancelled halftime performances by the marching band and Warriorettes, and float competition was declared a three-way tie.

The weather did have it's bright side though. It provided the opportunity for many young couples to huddle close under umbrellas and keep warm before the dance. With the theme "A Timeless Spirit," the evening atmosphere proved to be authentic. Warrior royalty honors went to Lyle Bighorn and Raylene Riggs, who were crowned King and Queen of Westwood for 1976-77.

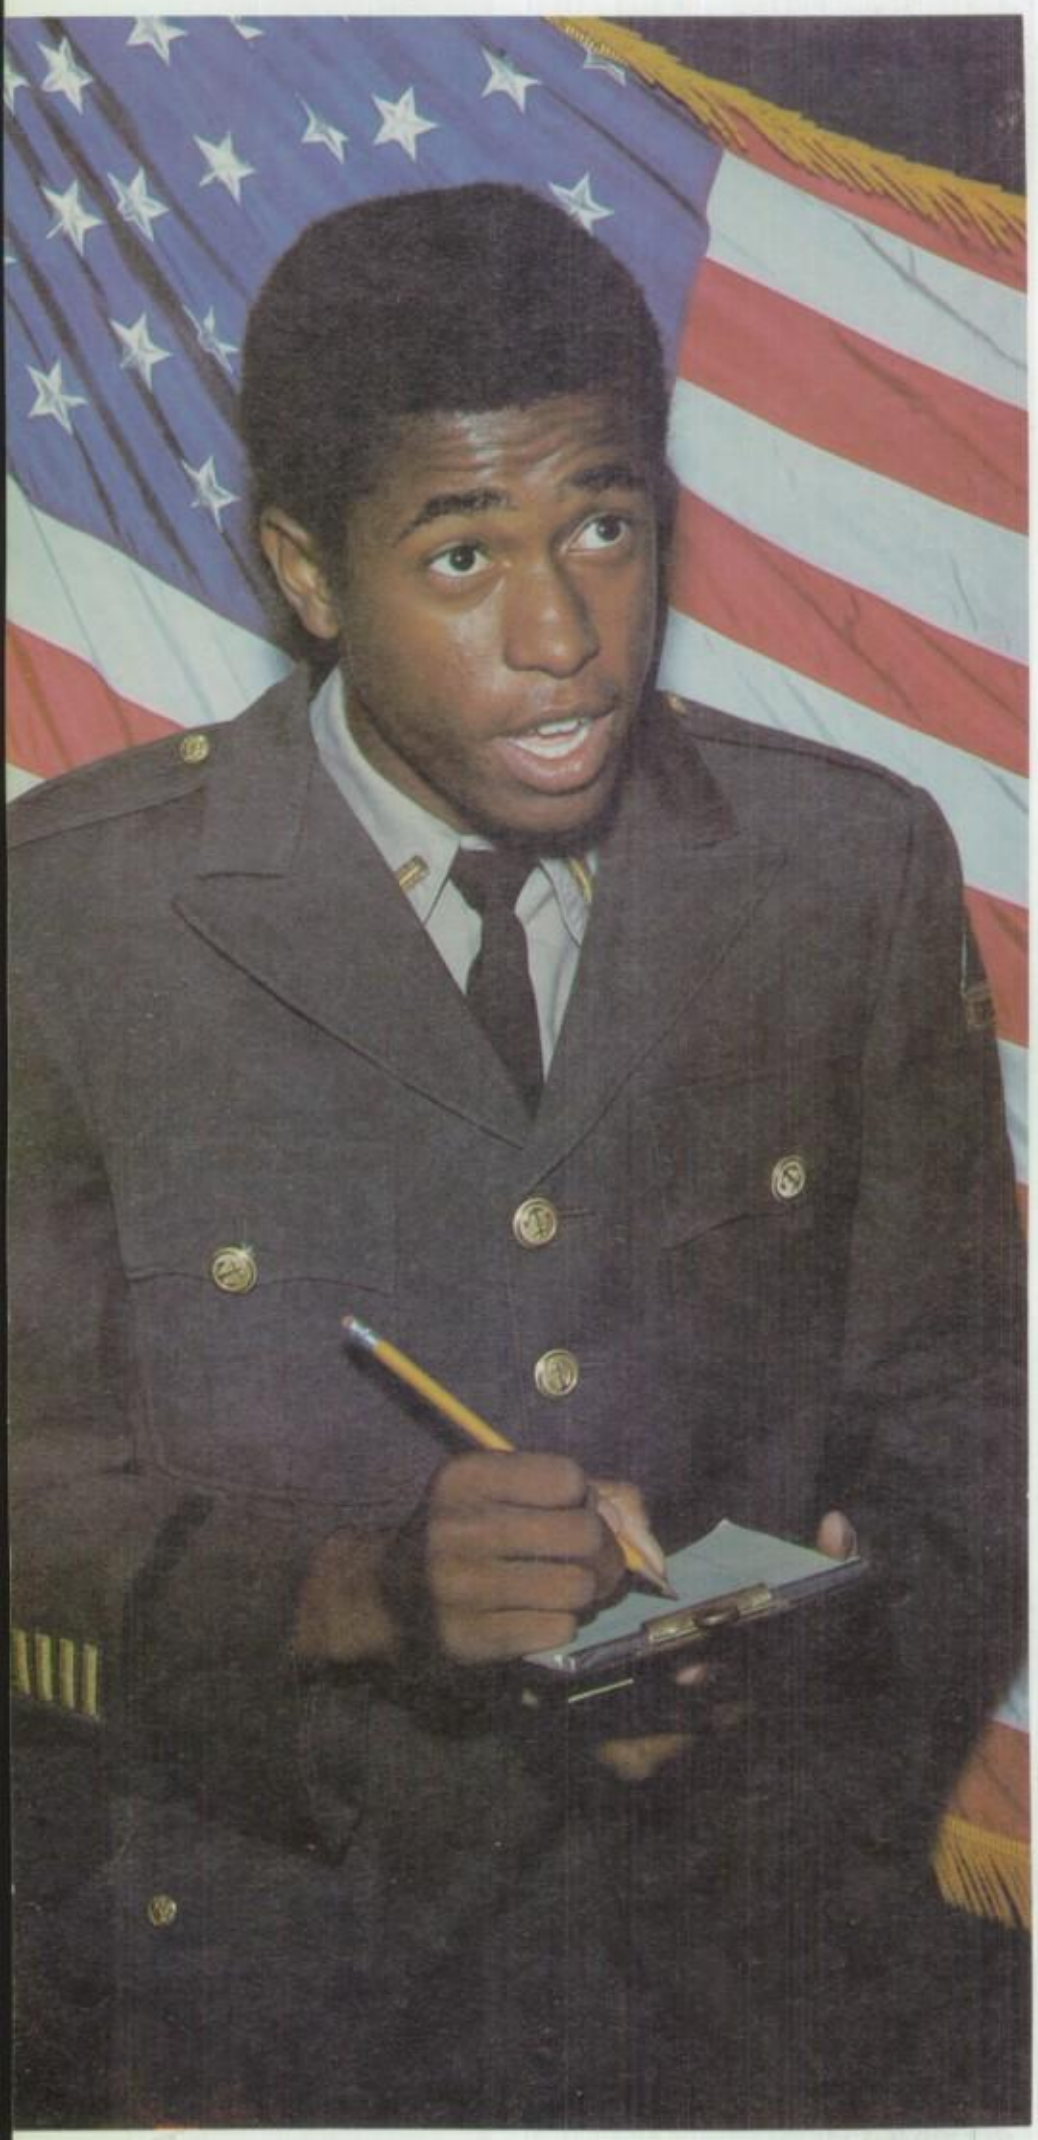
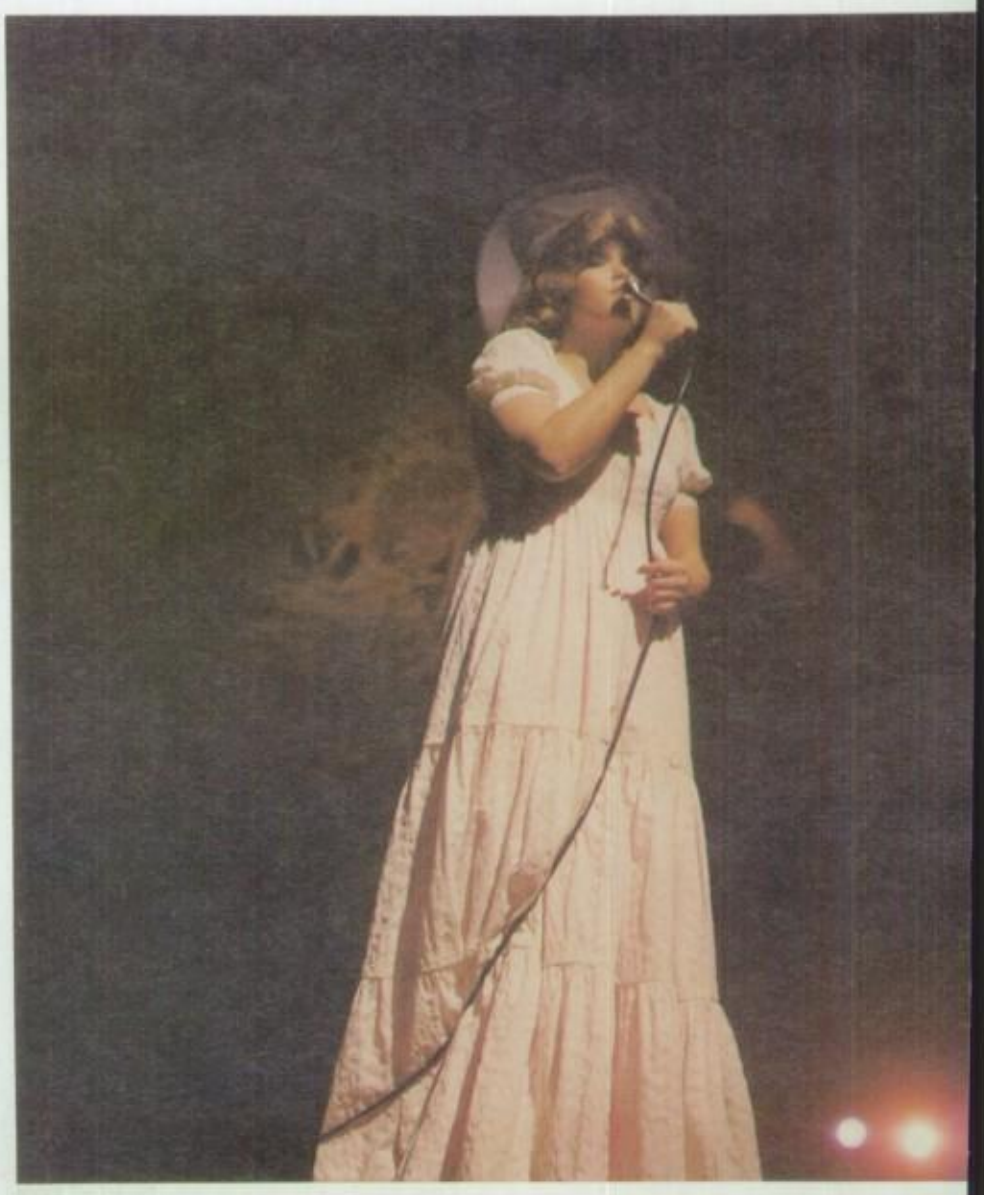
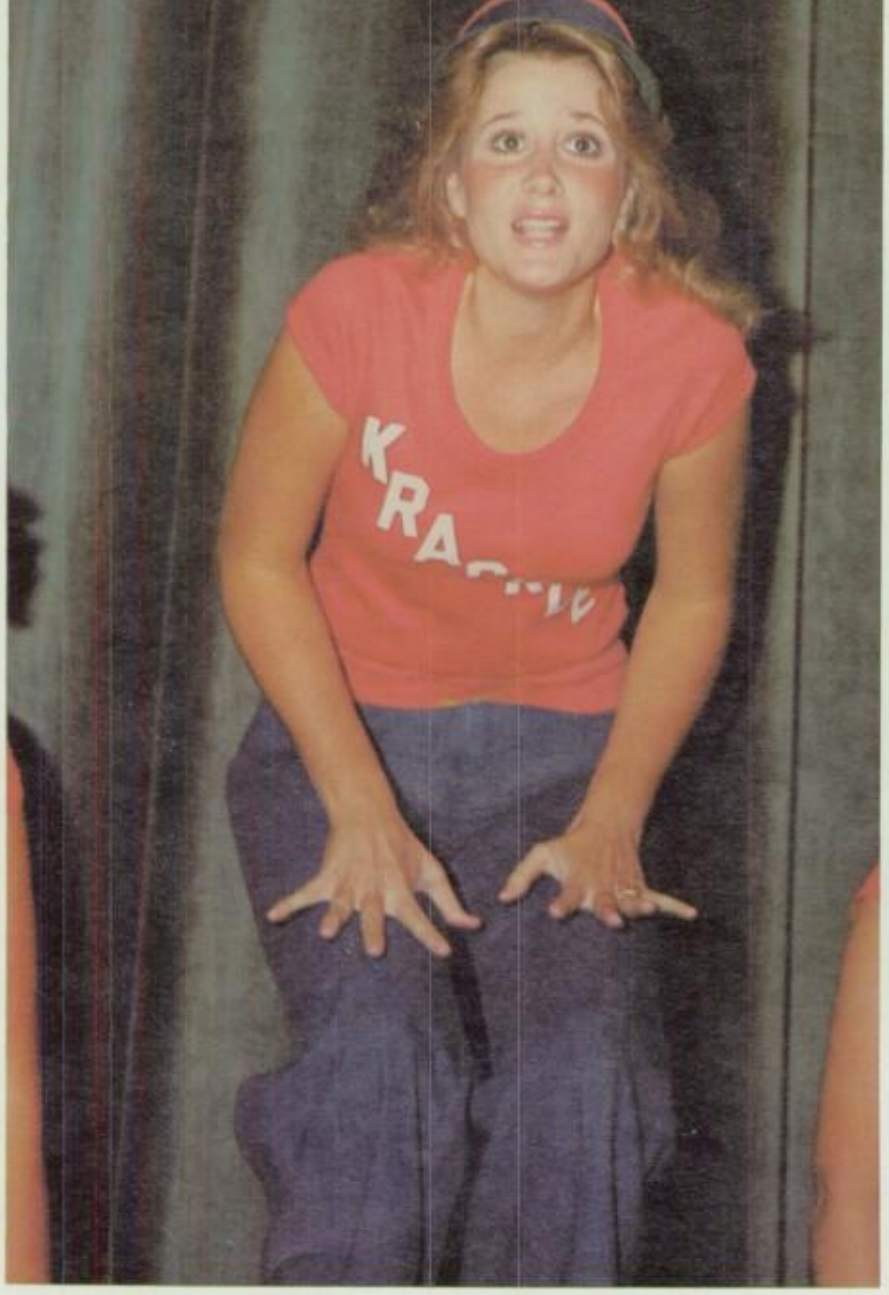
Curtain Time Abounds With Music and Comedy



"I've Got The Sun In The Morning And The Moon At Night," was the spectacular theme of "Curtain Time '76". Practices, preparation, and patience on the part of all involved made it a big success.

These sensational acts included a dance by Dance Production to "You Better Shop Around"; Missy Pennell singing and playing "Send In The Clowns"; and Brian Larsen singing "It's So Lonesome On The Saddle Since My Horse Died". Following these superb acts a dreamy mood was set by Mikki Brown singing, as Raylene Riggs danced to "Fairytales". Pat Brooks amazed everyone with his magic act, and the Beautyshop Quartet lulled the audience into a relaxing mood by singing "Mr. Sandman". Next came an impressive performance by Jill Strong, as she sang an original song entitled "Babe". Honor Choir ended with "Moonlight In Vermont" which left everyone in a romantically, sleepy mood.





OPPOSITE-LEFT: "You're allergic to kryptonite?!", an incredulous Charles Newton asks Superman, as the Man of Steel enlists in the army. America the Beautiful Restored by Hard Workers

America ... the very sound of that crystal-clear name sweeps the souls of Americans. Be they young or old, they stand shoulder to shoulder across the vast expanse of this great nation, united in the cause of freedom, liberty, justice and cleanliness for all.

We've won many and we've lost few. Still, there are battles ahead, struggles requiring sweat and toil from other lovers of the stars and stripes.

We were on the combat line too, Warriors of Westwood, only our particular battle happened to be campus beautification. A small, but important skirmish in the war for a cleaner, healthier Land of the Free, Home of the Brave!

Obviously, the Warriors measured up to the difficult task and filled their combat boots as worthy soldiers. It was only a matter of months after school began that strategies were planned and orders given.

Once mobilized, the troops moved out. With paint brushes and rakes and lots of dedication, the Student Council tackled peeling benches, dreary trash cans, refuse-cluttered yards and dirty tops of locker cages. Hampered by lack of funds, they still managed to beautify Westwood's campus.

The City of Mesa was also due for beautifying. The old Rendezvous Building and Park were torn down and a new Civic Center built for Mesans. Providing concerts, ballets, art exhibits, and many other activities, was the main goal of the Center.

Another addition to Mesa was the construction of a new ball park. Because Rendezvous was leveled, a new stadium was needed to accomodate baseball fans. Located on Brown Road and Center Street, the new stadium provided many enjoyable hours for baseball fans.

Citizens of Mesa and students of Westwood all joined forces to make America beautiful. God bless America!

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" Premiered

For a fast look into the lives of two average American teenagers, the smash comedy "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" made its appearance through the Westwood Drama Department last fall.

Holly Harper and Melanie Jones headed the cast of two girls (Cornelia and Emily) going to Europe and trying to prove just how "cosmopolitan" they could be.

The fun unfolded as the girls got themselves into all kinds of trouble ranging from bedbugs, to measles, to exploding bathtubs. The appearance of two Harvard medical students (Ray Burnell and Nathan Richards) completed the amusing picture of romance and excitement.

No vacation could have been complete without parents popping in to check up on their girls. Cornelia's parents (Deon Brinkerhoff and Scott Reader), with their insisting ways, contributed to make the evening most enjoyable.

OPPOSITE- "Now, my dear. I want you to promise me you'll wear your safety pocket at all times", demands Mrs. Skinner (Deon Brinkerhoff) as she interupts the vehement protests of her daughter Cornelia (Holly Harper). LEFT: "For I am Otis the magic hunter!", explains Scott Reader to a disgusted Deon Brinkerhoff, as he searches for bedbugs in their daughter, Cornelia's, bed. BOTTOM LEFT: "Oh! How do I look? What do I say?", exclaims Cornelia Skinner (Holly Harper) as Emily Kimbro (Melanie Jones) hands her the phone. RIGHT: "La'fayette, we are here", proclaims suave medical students, Nathan Ricards and Ray Burnell, as they make their entrance in the fall play "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay".

Juniors First in Halls; Seniors Disappointed

It may have been cold during the 1976 holiday season, but the spirits of the Westwood Warriors were burning brighter than ever. Christmas Halls, complete with painting, outlining, and general work—lots of it—often monopolized the lives of involved classmen.

When all the desperate and dull labor was completed and the halls were put up, the moment of truth arrived. The seniors were confident that they would receive the first place honors, because they had spent more hours on their halls than the other groups. However, the junior class received the reward for first place and the seniors were left with second, the sophies third.

It was a disappointment for the class of '77 and for the first time in history the decision was disputed. However, nothing came of it and the senior's final hope was crushed. Still, they could be happy in the fact that their hall would soon be taken down and moved to a hospital, where it could at least brighten the lives of some people.

Despite the lack of sportsmanship, other Christmas projects thrived. The canned food drive came only 6,000 cans short of its 10,000 goal and the toy drive received a quite adequate response.

Tribesmen helped to make 1976 a happy Christmas for everybody!

OPPOSITE: As Christmas Halls were put up, a few students took time out for a little fun. Jeannie Bartow and John Giles seem to say, "If fish can do it, why can't we?", while Moe Fleming, singing a cheery Christmas song, has no idea of what's going on behind her. LEFT: Sheer concentration and that perpetual school spirit, was all that kept senior Ted Morphis going on those nights when work on Christmas Halls lasted into the wee hours. Everyone worked long and hard to make Christmas a success at Westwood.

And Now It's Time for Christmas

Love Is Gone; Seniors on Babazox Start Search

Love, Hate, Wisdom, Logic, Humor, Anger, Jealousy, Joy and Carefree are all human emotions experienced by everyone at least once during their lifetime.

The Senior Class, in an effort to push towards the coveted Natani Award, opened the class competition on January 28 with a lively musical using every human emotion to help find the answer to the title's question "Where is Love?"

Written by Ray Burnell, Mike DiMartin, Glynn McCarter, Nathan Richards and David Shaw, the play's plot had Hate, portrayed by Lynn Ziolko, kidnapping Love, alias Missy Pennell. Hate unsuccessfully attempts to take Love's place on the emotion-producing planet of Babozox, Carefree, being the carefree soul that he was, then hands over his title to Hate, erasing the bad emotion permanently.

The presentation was highlighted by the acrobatic choreography and a grand finale in which the entire cast sang the popular Beatles' tune "All You Need Is Love." Love, no doubt, along with hard work and dedication, helped the Class of 1977 produce an entertaining and emotion-packed Senior Play.

OPPOSITE-LEFT: Performing as Carefree, Lynn Johnson sent the planet of Babazox into a state of carefree dancing and helps them realize that all we need is love. RIGHT: Curiosity (Lisa Richins) and Hyper (Glynn McCarter) were just two of the many emotions portrayed on the planet of Babazox. Everyone joined in the celebration of Loves return to the universe. ABOVE: "But I hate being Hate", screams Lynn Ziolko in a fit of emotion. Hate tried to impersonate Love but the planet of Babazox was not fooled. BELOW: As leader of the planet of Babazox, David Wright, Wisdom, asks, "Where is Love?" A logical answer by Pat Reardon, Logic, was, "She is not here." RIGHT: "Yes, you are hungry!" agrues Dennis Crandall to a lovely Missy Pennell. The seniors locked Love in a dungeon only to find that her spirit could not be contained.

Dan Mize Goes Abroad

Every year Westwood becomes a little more cosmopolitan, thanks to our American Field Service program.

Each one of us would like to travel and see how other countries around the globe differ from the United States. This, of course, is not possible, but we are fortunate enough to converse and become friends with students our own age from far away places.

Westwood's campus was brightened by the charm of Benta Storkensen, a blue-eyed, blond-haired Norwegian girl. Benta attended regular classes here at Westwood and was hosted by the Pennell family during her stay in Mesa.

Our own contribution will be made to the A.F.S. Program when Westwood's Dan Mize will travel abroad this summer. Dan was chosen by a panel of teachers and past A.F.S. students.

Lunch Time Options May Be Hazardous

Carbohydrates, proteins, fatty acids—During the whole Warrior 1977 year, Tribesmen completely ignored these building blocks of nutrition; building blocks that could spell the difference between life and death for growing boys and girls.

Although there were no complete deaths, it was obvious that there was a serious crises in nutrition when Warriors ignored healthy cafeteria "Farmer's Fat Boys" for the "Big Macs" of McDonalds and the "Jumbos" from Jack in the Box.

But with the spectre of malnutrition floated a second ghost—dwindling finances. Often, Braves could be found talking with each other or laughing or clipping out two-for-one coupons from newspapers, because it was simply too expensive to eat outside of the nutritious cafeteria every day.

Fund Raisers of Westwood Unite for Chieftain

The clubs and organizations at Westwood this year were busy not only with service projects, but earning money.

The most popular fund raising projects were those which involved food. Food is an essential, as the students at Westwood proved. The football and basketball games proved to be an excellent source of income. The Chalk Chics, Chicanos Unidos, and Hustlers took advantage of this opportunity and sold concessions. Quill and Scroll, COE, DECA, SAE and the combined forces of Boys and Girls Leagues sold such delicacies as hot dogs, cokes, and popcorn at the athletic performances. Other organizations took advantage of the students' need for food intake such as the HERO Club, which over the year sold pickles, donuts, suckers, candy apples, and baked goods. The German Club came through again this year with their ever popular soft pretzels. The French Club, not to be outdone by the pretzel-pushing Germans, sold Croissants. The Bands and Orchestra had an extremely prosperous cheese, candy and sausage sale. At Christmas time Quill and Scroll sold candy canes.

To round up the year the Christian Youths of American sold candy apples and the Service Club sold See suckers.

The service worthy fund raising projects also did well this year. At the beginning of the year the Awathum Club held a car wash and carnival. When Homecoming rolled around COE sold corsages. The Girls Swim Team sold programs at a football game. Christmas was a great time to sell trinkets. VICA sold mistletoe, while the German Club sold candles. COE wrapped Christmas gifts. The Chicanos Unidos and the Contemporary Music Club each sponsored a dance. The Chalk Chics showed the movie, "My Side of the Mountain". Student Council sponsored a powder-puff basketball game, in which the money went to A.F.S. Quill and Scroll and the Swim Maids worked long hours inventorying at J.C. Penneys. The Student Council also helped the yearbook by holding a Papa Doo Run Run concert and three showings of "The Three and Four Musketeers". The money went for color pictures.

Cupids Arrow Well Shot

Deadly tales of werewolves and heart-warming glimpses of love, with the sincerity of finishing a job, were revealed as the Junior Class Play, "Cupid's Arrow", came to a climax.

This original musical, written and directed by Sue St. John, featured the god of love, Cupid (John Giles), who narrated the two-act play. As the story unfolded it was revealed that the town of Transylvania had been having problems with werewolves and needed some outside help. The mayor lettered for advice from the American Werewolf Hunting Society. The WHS was composed of three industrious individuals; Immature Shawn (Tom Johnson) and love-stricken Tina and Jim (Rhonda Randall and John Ray).

Once in Transylvania, the trio, with a host of other characters, devised a humorous, but successful, plan to rid the town of the werewolf.

The production ended as Cupid shot a silver arrow, originally intended for Jim, and struck Shawn instead. Consequently, the werewolf curse was broken and Tina fell in love with Shawn. After seeing what fortune his haphazard arrow had caused, Cupid grinned at the audience and remarked, "Well, I guess everything turned out all right, and everybody's happy!"

Chieftain Princess

Princess Picked; Cummins Crowned

Royalty once more reigned over Westwood on the moonlit night of January 7, as Cristi Cummins was crowned Chieftain Princess of 1977.

Candidates vying for the title were selected by the Student Council from among senior girls on the Publications staff. The student body then voted for the girl of their choice.

Selected with Cristi were Karen Skousen, Stacye Tyler, Lynn Resler, and Joyzelle Wade. Each girl contributed greatly to Westwood's annual in their years at Westwood.

Cristi, Editor-in-Chief of the 1977 Chieftain, was awarded the coveted crown by last year's princess, Mara Burroughs, during the annual and traditional Chieftain Dance. Providing the entertainment for the princess and her subjects was Spectrum.

Education Offers Bright Future

The days seem like weeks
So many hours of learning
So many books to carry
Rushing to your locker between classes
Trying to stay awake after sleepless nights
Thinking until the brain ceases to think
Listening until nothing makes sense
Striving to attain knowledge
Struggling to remember
Giving it your all because . . .
YOU ONLY LIVE ONCE!

OPPOSITE: Making sure that every mark is precise, Mr. Pat Coyle and Don Frontone prepare to make a masterpiece. Administrators Partake in School Activities

The Mesa School District ran smoothly and efficiently this year with Superintendent George N. Smith at the head. Starting off Dr. Smith's tenth year, he and other administrators rode school buses to various elementary schools for a look around. Without complication, the administrators enjoyed a taste of the school bus commodity.

The school board aided in the running of the schools by deciding on such issues as: New High Schools, Financing, Building Program, and the spending of the budget. Three of the five seats were taken by new members Darl Anderson, Dr. Marion Peterson, and Dennis Lambson, this year. Old members Dr. John Crandall and Lynn Sharp, together with the new members, provided a very prosperous year.

Westwood was aided by the administrators in the deciding of these issues to make it the number ONE school in the state.

Students Cooperate; Faculty Responds; Progress Achieved

It was a sensational year for the 2205 students at Westwood and much of this was attributed to the Administrators of our school.

Beginning with registration last fall, which students whizzed through, the long lines that have been typical of past years were not seen this year. Administrators formulated many plans for the improvement of the school, which will take place this coming fall. Not only is the overcrowded condition in the library going to be solved with the construction of an addition to the building, but the disorder in front of the Bookstore will be dissolved with the transfer of the snack bar to the cafeteria.

The Auditorium is also due for a face-lift after serving the community and Westwood for many years. New carpet, curtains, and a paint job were planned for this summer.

But it wasn't the planning or ideas that made the year so great, it was our dedicated administrators who executed their jobs so well.

Foreign Language, English Offer Fun

Computers, motion pictures and state Sophomore English tests came to Warrior country as part of the English Department's drive to offer a wider variety of classes. The new computer program was designed to give individual help to those students having problems in English, while offering an accelerated program to the advanced students.

For those who enjoyed being straight tongued critics, the Art of Motion Picture class delved into the techniques of film making and of writing critical essays.

Warriors with moccasins pointed in the direction of college were provided hunting grounds of greater knowledge in the college-preparation English classes.

The Sophomore braves filled their medicine bags with good luck charms when they were rewarded to take the state Sophomore English test.

Foreign Language Dept. Shares Super Selena

*The Language Department considers itself lucky with such an asset as Selena Wentz traipsing and translating herself throughout the various language classes.

Selena is a third year French student and is currently taking first year German and Spanish. Her teachers find her very bright and quick to learn languages. Although studying is necessary, she still finds time to excell in other subjects.

Membership in Spanish, German, and French clubs are claimed by Selena. Besides being a member, she serves as Vice-President in French club.

For the past two years Selena has ranked in the top five at the National French Contest, held every year at A.S.U. She hopes, one day, to utilize her abilities by becoming an interpreter.

Singles Surviving, Chefs Delighted, Sawdust in the Air

When someone mentions Home Economics do you think of smelly diapers and burnt cookies? Well, if you walked into the department you may have found yourself drooling over cakes that look like they just came from a bakery.

Many classes were offered this year in the Home Economics Department including a new one, Singles Survival. The course gave students the chance to work together, and improve their lives by teaching about good selection of living quarters and clothing. Students learned that such things would come in handy when it's time to carry on for themselves.

Fixing tables, making gun racks, ham radios, metal shop, and learning architecture were some of the goals established by the Industrial Arts Department. Students were also given the opportunity to tear down small engines. Some, found this to be a greasy experience.

LEFT: One of the cooking skills taught by the Home Economics Department was the gourmet art of barbecuing hamburgers, as demonstrated by Karen Wahl. Super Student Jives To Sound of Buzz Saw

*Woodwork, woodwork, and more woodwork is a very important aspect in the life of the Industrial Arts Departments' outstanding student, Mark Jones.

Mark is found to be extremely energetic and bright in this particular field. His projects are always on time, leaving himself free to go above and beyond the call of duty to do extra assignments.

Currently engaged in his third year of woodwork, Mark has also taken work experience in this field, and doesn't seem to tire of either one.

His projects include just about everything from lamps to cedar chests, and to top that off he still finds time to assist the teachers and help other students with their projects.

Some day Mark plans to become a carpenter.

Grease in the Eye; Seeds in the Soil

"It's a computerized car! No, it's a twenty-five pound tomato!" Surely these weren't daily events, but exciting things were produced from the Auto Mechanics and Agriculture Departments.

In the Auto Mechanics classes several types of automobiles were available for the students to use to apply their knowledge obtained in the classroom. Using a variety of equipment, they were able to better understand the fundamentals of the car world. Welding classes, too, offered creative instruction for a practical profession.

There were many different classes offered in the Agriculture Department. Animal Science, Gardening, and Hydroponics were only an elite number offered. For most of the class work an outside "laboratory" was used. Here students applied their knowledge to raise their own livestock and to grow their own crops.

RIGHT: "Which one would you choose?", asks Doug Deemer of Patti Higgins, as they both look over FFA's poinsettias. FFA's Elin Duckworth Achieves High Goals

*Pushing to keep Westwood's Future Farmers of America rated high, was one of the many goals that Elin Duckworth achieved this year. At the National Convention in Kansas City Elin helped the teams take a gold emblem award. When it came to individual competition she placed seventeenth in the Meats division. Holding the office of seventh Vice-President for state, and President for her district, she visited many chapters and brought back new knowledge for fellow FFA students.

Departments Focus on Past, Future

With the passing of America's Bicentennial, another important page in our nation's history has been filled. For over two centuries, the people of the United States have worked hard to improve this country, expanding their knowledge in many fields.

The faculty of the Social Studies department has also worked hard throughout the year, teaching students our nation's past, it's economy, and the values of being an American. Students have learned that they are the ones responsible for keeping this nation growing. Much depends on how well today's youth can respond to the questions of tomorrow, and how much knowledge and experience is acquired in the present. This will have a great impact on our country in the future.

Government, free enterprise and history have been taught with one objective in common - to teach the students the importance of what it means to be an American. Through thick and thin, America has remained a land of great opportunity.

Helping students take advantage of the great opportunities available after graduation, was the Business Department's goal. The department allowed students to delve into the many aspects of the business field. The various skills taught were helpful in creating an atmosphere for planning ahead.

Super Spiffy Student Has Head for Business

*Karen Stearman was tops in the Business Department this past year. She will have nine and one-half credits in business, each with a grade of a "1", when she graduates from Westwood in May, 1977. The four business teachers that influenced Karen and helped get her where she is today are, Helen Chellevold, Brian Foster, Charles Thompson, and Fern Yerby. She has travelled extensively, spending the summer of 1976 in France and England. Karen speaks French fluently. Her career goal is to become an International Accountant. She has worked in Westwood's bookstore, and is currently employed as the bookkeeper for Mission Gardens Nursery, in Mesa, through the Co-operative Office Education program.

OPPOSITE-LEFT: "Now, maybe if I can get my finger out of here I can run off those 3000 copies for Mr. Lindstrom", seems to be the thought of business student Cindy Gearhart. RIGHT: A puzzled Ilene Calder receives helpful assistance from Social Studies teacher Mr. Al Thomas. TOP RIGHT: Karen Stearman displays some of the intense concentration that made her the outstanding student in the Business Department. BOTTOM RIGHT: The question, "Dred who?", seems to be answered by Social Studies teacher Mr. Jerry Ferguson. Healthy Minds, Healthy Bodies: Keys to Success

The Physical Education, Health, and Drivers Education Departments helped the students in practical ways to do their best.

The coaches in Boys P.E. taught, "When you have your health, you have everything," while the Girls P.E. instructors emphasized activities that would carry over beyond high school.

The Co-ed programs boomed. The participants enjoyed working together with the opposite sex. When asked about her reaction to the Co-ed program, Raenada Burden said, "It was really fun because I had to work harder to prove that girls are just as good."

Through visual aids and discussions, the Health Department studied the problems faced everyday by youth in today's world.

With the purchase of special equipment, a new four-phase program was put into effect in the Drivers Education Department. Besides the usual class work and behind the wheel training, the students now use simulators and multimedia equipment.

RIGHT: Co-ed Physical Education was in full swing this year. Gail Wiegert reverses typical roles with Todd LeSueur by giving him some feminine advice. This role-change was not an uncommon occurance at Westwood, due to the co-ed programs. OPPOSITE-TOP LEFT: Outstanding student Donna Jackson enthusiastically participates in a warm-up exercise. Keeping in shape is hard work but Milo does it with two periods of P.E. each day. Coach Jolly feels he is a good student and trys his best to remain outstanding in the P.E. field.

*Donna Jackson, one of many outstanding students at Westwood this year, added a special touch to the Girls P.E. Department. "In any sport she participated, Donna was always enthusiastic and willing to help others develop their skills if she could", Miss Sally Bixby, head of the P.E. Department commented. She added, "Donna was a model student; always on time and always participating."

Music Travels As Art Draws Near

The aroma of fresh paint, macrame hangings that strangely remind one of spider webs, clay covered hands, and a lot of smiling faces are all a part of the Visual Arts Department at Westwood.

With the opening of Mountain View, the Art Department was smaller on the staff-side this year, meaning more hard work for the teachers. However, by looking at the efficient classes, as well as finished art projects, it was obvious that they outdid themselves.

Weaving, sculpting and sketching inspired artists through thirty different subjects, filling the needs of many.

The Performing Arts Department, with a goal this year to become more unified, spent a lot of time traveling all over the valley.

From Tucson to Salt Lake City, the bands, choruses and drama groups most adequately proved to everyone that they had quality, as well as quantity.

Outstanding Performer

Dodez Makes History

*Excelling and winning many awards in the vocal and instrumental fields of music, Renee Dodez was chosen as the Performing Arts super spiffy student.

Renee has been the only person in 100 years to be accepted at Tanglewood Music Institute in Boston for her voice, and ability to play the violin. She has received numerous superior ratings in solo festivals, string quartets and other ensembles.

This exceptional Warrior began playing in the fourth grade and studies with William Engelsman. She has played with Showcase Strings, Mesa Youth Orchestra, and in regional and All-State Orchestras for three years. Renee performed in Westwood's Concert Choir her junior year and in Honor Choir, as a dramatic soprano, this past year.

Math, Science Seek Proper Perspective

Facts and figures whirled, while the math and science teachers put them into proper perspective.

Explaining algebraic problems wasn't an easy job but the math teachers tackled it well and enjoyed the challenge. The Math Department offered a variety of math courses from basic math and geometry, to calculus and computer science. Contrary to popular belief, operating a computer isn't just a "push the button and out pops the answer" affair. The computor science students learned new languages to enable them to operate the efficient, but complicated, piece of machinery.

Science has always been an interesting, but mind-boggling, experience to students. Biology involved the living world, featuring the much-desired frog dissection. Chemistry was filled with explosive labs and exciting experiments, all intertwined with technology. Plant science was learned in the new Botany classes. Insights into matter and energy were learned in physics.

The math and science departments were kept busy imparting knowledge to the receptive students.

Tessendorf and Benzer Make Outstanding Mark

*Susan Benzer, a senior here at Westwood, has received many awards in mathematics. She began receiving them in ninth and tenth grades, when she was awarded certificates of achievement in the State Math Contest. This year Susan was one of the National Merit Semi-Finalists, and the only girl from Westwood to earn such a big honor. Going to college, then traveling around the world are a few of her future goals.

*With hobbies including computer programing and reading science fiction and physics texts, Jerry Tessendorf is striving to become a research physicist. He has shown outstanding interest in the scientific field and entered a national contest, The Westinghouse Talent Search, in which he wrote an excellent 1,000 word report on "AMS: A Mathematical System". We salute Jerry for making the most of his scholastic opportunities at Westwood.

Special People Do Special Things

The famous line, "May I help you?", was often used this year by Bookstore Manager Mr. Andre Messali. With the help of Mrs. Norene Pine and student workers, supplies were always in abundance and readily available.

Our well-equipped library added assistance to students interested in increasing their education. The librarians looked forward to next years modernizing.

The diligent workers of the food department were concerned each day with preparing 2500 meals, while successfully filling each student with a delectable well-planned meal.

Always on hand for fear of an arising emergency was Mrs. Mabel Fowler, the new school nurse.

The security guards stuck with their traditions of a bright colored golf cart and loud convincing ways. George Alberts and Al Arbizu, along with our busy custodians, worked hard to help students.

Class of 1977 Adds Twelfth Notch on Totem Pole; Graduating Warriors Make Memories to Cherish

The Band of 1977 Warriors was the mightiest to ever do their raiding at Westwood. They left their marks in the hearts and minds of all those they encountered as they traveled the path to adulthood.

Letting it be known how mighty they really were from the start, the seniors held a spirit-raising party, getting it together before the school year had ever begun.

Since feathers weren't "in" this century, the seniors set themselves far above the others by wearing "Sensational Senior T-Shirts". Upon wearing this they requested and received much respect from the underclass papooses.

Showing the wisdom they had gained from past experiences, the class of '77 used the theme, "Bare the Hares", for their lawn project during Mesa-Westwood Week.

"Unite with power for power", is exactly what they did when they savegly conquered the other classes for the first place points at the Pow Wow, where they out-yelled, out-decorated, and out-tugged the others.

The spirit of these mighty Warriors really shown through when it came time to build the class float. The experience was a tragic one, however, for due to circumstances beyond their control, no one ever got the chance to show the float. (It rained.)

Their spirits were relifted when Christmas came, outdoing any techniques ever used. The class of '77 decorated it's hall with illustrations of what it is like in a forest at Christmas time. They did their best, but judges decision favored the juniors.

Being the first class to ever put on a meaningful play, the seniors showed they were going to fight to the finish. The play, "Where is Love?", was an excellent example of what twelve years of experience can produce.

The class of '77 put up a good fight for three long years. Even though the record books don't show them as always winning, in their hearts, souls, and spirits this Band of Warriors was victorious!!

Taking his time to make everything perfect, Loran Gurr writes and re-writes ideas for his project in woodworking class. Designing your own work of art takes long hours of thinking. Going through his mind are shapes, textures, wood types and forms to use on his stepping stool.

You'd snicker too if you felt wet clay ooze through your fingers as Kim Moser did. Even though her first thoughts were of total disaster she now realizes that with a little practice she can design a splendid work of art. Being one of the thirty-two classes offered to Kim in the art department she chose the potter's wheel in her conquest of an artistic future.

Westwood Teaches Singles the Art of Surviving

"I never realized knowing how to make these would benefit my single life", comments Jim Walsh to Jack Melvin. Jack and Tim are just a couple of the men who have gotten involved in the better homemaking program at Westwood, one of many offered in the Home Economics Department for men who are interested in learning the trades of singlehood. One thing's for sure; Westwood's bachelors will be well prepared for surviving singly when they leave the home nest.

Junior Class Proved to be Great; Sharing Sorrow, Tragedy, Exuberance and Soaring Spirits

Tragedy, joy, happiness and sorrow were some of the factors which made up the events affecting the lives of the class of 1978. The year began uneventfully, but then, as class competition events started, the tempo took an upswing.

Third place is where the juniors wound up when the Pow Wow was over, and considering that only three places were available, things could have been brighter. Looking back, however, there were bright spots as the tug-of-war event did go to next year's seniors.

The rains came down in November and chaos ruled the day. In fact, it was probably one of the wettest Homecomings in the history of Westwood. With the rains came disaster for the class of 78's float. By the time the game with McClintock started, the carousel shaped structure was nothing but a round blob of paper mache seeping down through the frame of wooden slats.

Then the Christmas season arrived and with the holidays came hall decorations. "Christmas Under the Ocean", was the theme chosen and proved to be a winner as a first place trophy was racked up by the surprised, but happy juniors.

Next came play time, Junior class play time. "Cupid's Arrow", an original musical involving monsters, arrows and love proved to be a crowd pleaser.

Yes, all in all it was a great, no, a terrific year for the class of '78 and next year should prove to be the best yet!

Incoming Sophomores Battle for Superiority; Struggle With Various Newfound Traditions

Suffering through the trials and tribulations of being low men on the totem pole wasn't easy, as this year's sophomore class soon discovered. After experiencing the many hassles of entering a new school, the class of '79 found that their work was cut out for them. First on the agenda was the election of sophomore officers. The candidates made brightly painted posters and built unusual lawn projects to promote their campaigns. It was a close race, ending with the election of Darren McCleve as President, Kandee Button as Vice-President, and Judene Ray as Secretary. These officers did an outstanding job and kept the sophomore class's spirits running high.

The Pow Wow was one of the many events that sophies participated in with hopes of winning the prized Natani. Combining eagerness and spirit, they took second place in the first class competition of the year.

After being broken-in on old traditions at Westwood, the Class of '79 set out to show their superiority in float-building. Many hours of hard work were spent on the construction and decoration of the float. With a theme of "An Unending Spirit from then until when", the Sophies had high hopes of winning, but due to unfavorable weather condidtions, all floats suffered damage. The three classes tied for first place and the remnants of their floats were salvaged to build one combination float which appeared in the Fiesta Bowl Parade.

Christmas Halls was another event that brought sophies and their spirit together. With the theme of "Storybook Land Christmas", they used such cartoon characters as Tom and Jerry, The Grinch who Stole Christmas, Huckleberry Hound, and the Peanuts Gang.

Getting the last pick of everything didn't discourage sophomores at all. In fact, when there was an assembly they crowded into the back of the auditorium, which was the traditional place, and showed the rest of the student body how much spirit the Class of '79 really had. Many times they outdid the juniors and seniors. In all competition the sophomore class tried their hardest and did exceptionally well.

Spirit Reaches New Heights

Class Publicity Director, Mitzi Melville, takes on an air of concentration while helping with the student councils fund raising project. Many members of the faculty commented that there had been more spirit this year, than any other year leading us to a glorious victory over Mesa.

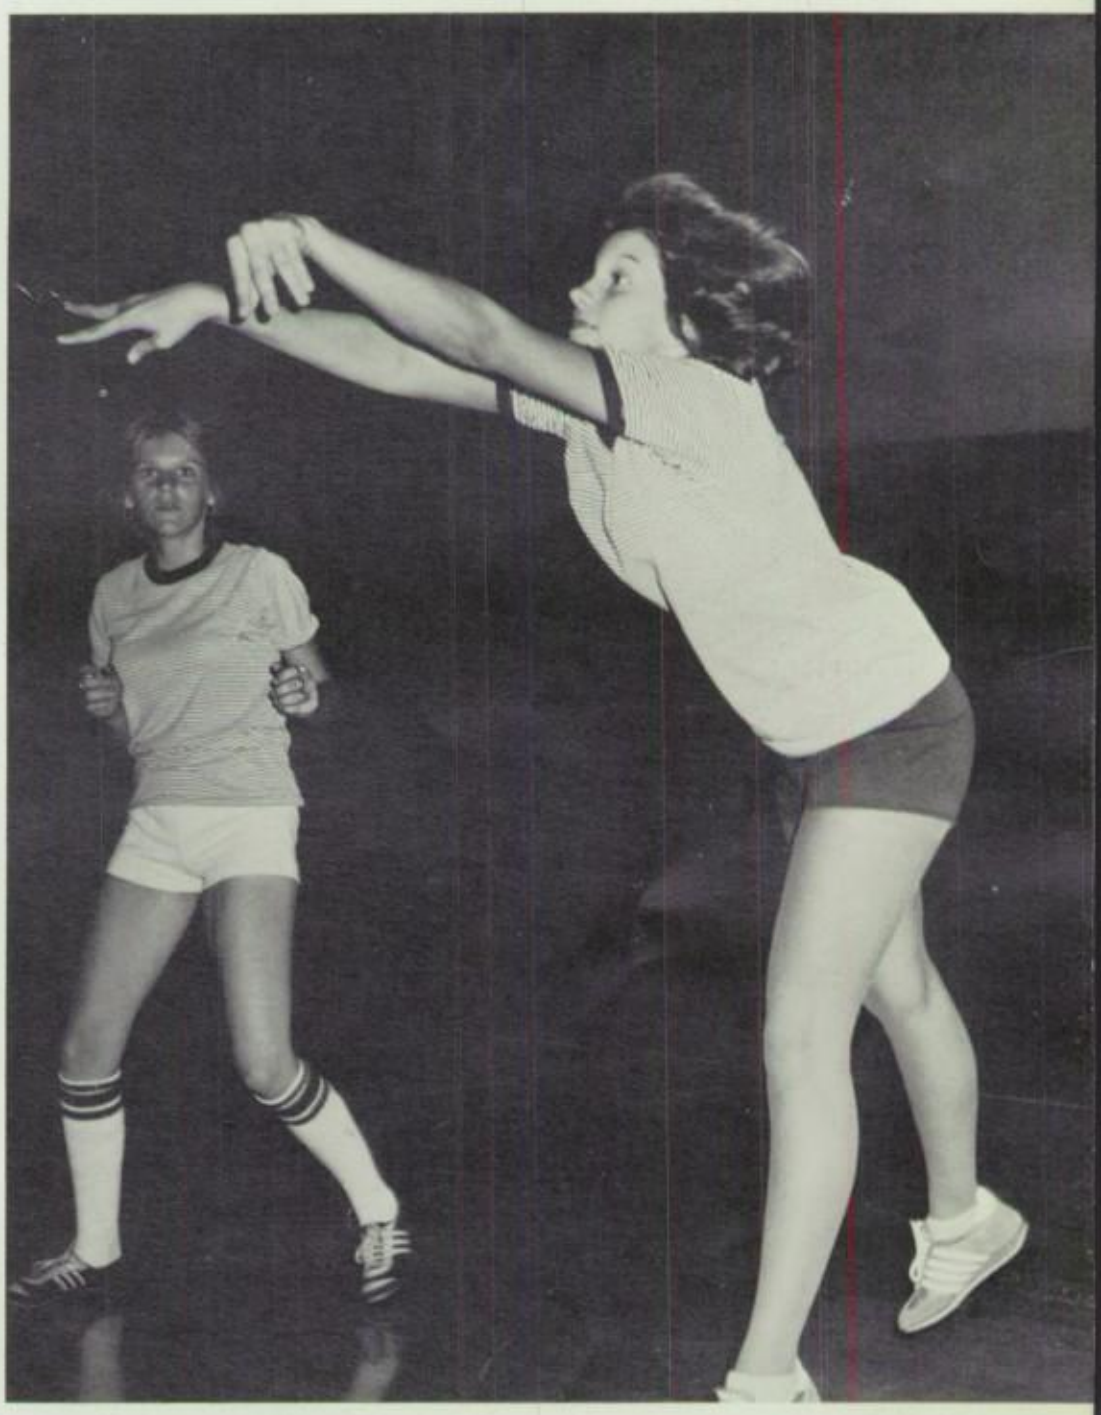
Sophies Get Involved; Coed P.E. Big Success



Up, up, and away! She's not trying to fly. It's just Mary Hunley returning a volley as Beverly Boyd watches with intense concentration.

ABOVE: Learning valuable skills for the future Mary Seaberry enjoys her knitting and looks determined as she trys not to drop a stitch. OPPOSITE: "It's been a hard day!" complains Lynda Bogle after a long day at school. Even this hard, concrete bench is a welcome sight, as Lynda leans on an invisible friend.

Although many names only appear once, most staff members worked on more than one area of this book.

As I reflect on the past three years I've been on the Chieftain and War Chant staffs, I remember so many good times. Sure, there were bad times and times when we pushed so far that we almost didn't make it. But we did, and the memories that will remain in my heart forever are truly gold ones. I've gained so many friends and met so many people through the publication of this book. And as this year comes to a close I hope that all of you will remember these years at Westwood with joy. Our high school years are the best ones of our lives and are not to be forgotten as time passes by.

The publication of this book would not have been possible without the dedication of the entire Chieftain staff. You were all great! I'd like to especially thank Bill Benner for his beautiful color pictures. I couldn't have done it with out ya! The yearbook can't survive without photographers and Greg, you were super! You were always putting in extra hours at school printing up pictures to make the deadlines. Mary, Kathy and Paula, you were fabulous for correcting and checking pages during deadlines. You three put more time, labor and headaches into this book than any one could ever count. I relied on you so much for help and feel we all came out friends. I know I sacked off in the end, but I hope you'll understand next year when you're so close to finishing. I'd like to thank Greg Swan for his humor. Although it was a bit strange, it added something special to many of my days. John, Marie and Brenda were also responsible, in part, for this book. With out last years experiences I couldn't have made it this year. And last, but not least, I'd like to thank Jeff, Cheri, Mr. Donovan and my family for putting up with me when I was totally irrational and impossible to cope and live with.

I owe so much to so many people. Thank you all for everything you've done to make this book possible. My senior year has been sensational thanks to all of you. Good luck to you as you continue down life's road.

AFS Has Great Week; Much Money Earned

This year's AFS week was full of fun and some new activities. To raise money for class competition, the three classes sponsored a Donkey Basketball Game, pizza sales, dishcloth sales and a dance in order to keep foreign exchange students coming and going.

Starting off the week on Tuesday was Donkey Basketball sponsored by the Senior Class in which various students and faculty participated. The Powderpuff Basketball Game was on Wednesday with the gals playing and the guys cheering. Thursday brought an old fashioned style lunch box auction in which different men on campus bid for the lunch and lady of their choice. Friday capped the week off with a different sort of assembly involving five foreign exchange students from around the valley. All in all, it was a fun week for everyone to learn about people from other lands.

Sweethearts and Follies Highlight End of Year

This year, Cupid's Cotillion was held in combination with the third annual Muscular Dystrophy Dance Marathon the evening of March 5th.

Towards the end of the gruelling sixteen hour marathon, the room silenced and the atmosphere became tense; the 1977 Sweethearts were announced. The Sophomore Class chose as their representative, Lynn Pine, while Ronda Randall and Julie Nichols were voted as the Junior and Senior Class Sweethearts respectively. The traditional drum roll sounded, the individual class attendance had been counted, Lynn Pine was announced as Westwood's 1977 Cupid's Cotillion Sweetheart.

The Sweethearts, their attendants and the students totaly enjoyed the music provided by who else . . . KUPD.

ABOVE: Mr. Brian Barabe, common English teacher, transforms himself into a country vocalist by crooning out his version of "The Ballad of Rocky Raccoon" during the second annual Faculty Follies. RIGHT: Back for a command performance was Mrs. Arlene Bateman singing a much to be remembered "As Time Goes By", accompanied by Mr. J.D. Jones. BELOW: Mr. Jerry Ferguson, Mr. Larry Jacobs, Mr. Jorth Richardson and Mr. James Sturdevant present "Coney Island Baby".

Sophomores Present "Barney and Claude"

"Barney and Claude", the Sophomore Class play, was written by Tina Brunsdale and directed by Meridith Rollins. The cast was headed up by such characters as Barney (Terry Turk), Claude (Tina Brunsdale), Cool Breeze (Brian Nissen), Wendy (Tammy Hyler), and Big Red (Mitzi Melville).

A take-off from the gangster story of Bonnie and Clyde, the theme was keeping in time with today's most popular shows of love and violence. Song and dance performed by gangsters, floozies, and high society people added a final touch to make the play a great success.

ABOVE: Arm wrestling for the love of Claude, Barney (Terry Turk) and Cool Breeze (Brian Nissen) are cheered on by an enthusiastic mob of gangsters. BELOW: Barney wonders if he has been given the shaft as Claude (Tina Brunsdale) sings of how she is "Torn Between Two Lovers."

Annual Spring Play Succeeds; "Bernadine" Brings Laughter

"Bernadine," a one time major Broadway production, was chosen for this year's all-school spring play. After many weeks of practice, the cast, directed by Mr. Jay Dean Jones, presented its production in Shepherd Auditorium on March 17 and 18 at 7:30 p.m.

The story was set in the 1950's and centers around nine average high school students.

As the plot unfolded, the gang, led by Beau (Ray Burnell) was trying desperately to find a date for Wormy Weldy (Nathan Richards), who had a reputation for being a wolf. Beau tried to cheer them up with tales of an "ideal town" called Sneaky Falls. This town came complete with the "ideal woman" who was glamorous, sexy, and willing. She was the infamous Bernadine.

In his last attempt, Wormy scored with Enid Lacy (Lisa Rambo), an older woman. Later he realized that Jean Cantrick (Melanie Jones), a girl Wormy always thought he hated was his "Bernadine."

Using very few props and a 50's setting, "Bernadine" caught the audiences' attention and made it one of the best all-school plays ever presented.

ABOVE: The wolf in Wormy Weldy (Nathan Richards) comes out as he makes an attack on a drunk woman (Benta Storkensen). BELOW LEFT: "It's just that my mother has this condition ..." says Vernon Kinswood (Bob Spiel) as he bores Ruth Weldy (Elin Duckworth) and Selma Cantrick (Deon Brinkerhoff). BELOW RIGHT: "Why, I wouldn't even be caught dead in this dump if I didn't feel sorry for Mrs. Weldy," says Vernon Kinswood (Bob Spiel) in a huff to Tubbs Grinner (Scott Reader).

ABOVE: "I don't want to know why you threw Louis Hoffstetter in the lake, I want to know how. She's five inches taller and outweighs you by 25 pounds." Fudge Freidelhouser (Jim Lee) questions Wormy while Dink Olson (Sam Lambe) takes an interest in the conversation. RIGHT: "You've gotta go out with Wormy, he's desperate!" Scott Reader pleads as he tries to arrange a blind date. BELOW: "You've got to look to the Future." advises Beau while Wormy looks for answers.

Wild, Wacky Fun Envelops Warriors

Hearts pounded, lungs burst and limbs were askew as whooping warriors beat down the dirt track towards the coveted natani. Thus the stage was set for the 14th Annual Na Kwachim which occured on March 15th.

The wacky events, held under the theme of hit songs, ranged from "I am Woman," a crazy charriot race to "Rubber Band Man," an exasperating gunny sack race.

The Seniors chalked up 53 points for an outstanding victory; with the Juniors coming in second with 34 points and the Sophomores placing third with 32 points.

The Wahoo Pahoo, held on April 12th, proved to be a wet, but exciting experience for the many participating warriors. The last class competition event included mixed freestyle and backstroke for the experienced swimmers and dogpaddle and sweatshirt strip for the braves whose only water experience has been limited to the bathtub. The Seniors won the number one spot with 73 points; the Juniors came in second with 49 points and the Sophomores placed third with 38 points.

Dawn,

well I can't begin to tell you how I really have been and the things that we have been through parents and friends every thing we have been through Dawn I don't know what much I am going to do without you. But each other. I am going to miss you. But you so much I am going to miss you. But you so much I am going to miss you. But you so much

(2) well Dawn what can I say to make Every thing weve been threw and every thing weve done together sound any greater than they really were. well
I really dont know what to say I have to fill this whole Page with something Oh yeah Do you remember when we first got my car back and we were so stupid and Ditched school the whole day and went to find Dave & Pat. in Tempe. well we cant have every thing we want so I guess if your the only one who has really been My friend. Through the only real Problam with J.B. and he was engaged to be married. and Doug being married and you were there to tell me to hang in there
This Dont make any Sense ok. Back to Dave & Pat they acted like we werent there so we said *?!— I you and [redacted] -and the time when my Parents first took my car away and we Decided that we didn't need the car to Ditch so we ditched the whole Day with Whipple Skip & Mike and everyone else. I got the shit beat out of me but I Proved my Point didnt I. but Didnt get my car back. Just got it taken away for longer. and working in the att.
office was the worst thing we could of Done cause we got caught Every time we Ditched. and Do you remember when Russell
Died you were there to help me through it with out Dieing myself cause love me so much to me and that 3 days & nights after that we did all of those things
